ROBBERS GET BANKS' MAIL AT CHICAGO POSTOFFICE

Loat Thought to Include Note and Securities With an Estimated Face Value of $1,000,000—Check Will Take 24 Hours.

HOLDUP TAKES LESS THAN A MINUTE

Carrier and Guard Trapped
From Rear by Five Men After They Cross Street
—Thieves Escape in Automobile.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Masked by hackerchiefs, five men today held up a carrier registered mail car near the Federal Building and escapes with notes and securities of an estimated face value of about $1,000,000.

This the most daring robbery in Chicago for many years, required less than a minute. With calculated precision the gang surrounded the messenger and his escort, disarmed the guard, and seized two mail sacks. Throwing the sacks into the rear of a light automobile, they drove away and were out of sight before an alarm could be given.

One sack contained 123 pieces of registered mail for the First National Bank, and the other contained 40 pieces for the First Union Trust and Savings Bank.

Just morning delivery of registered mail to these banks totals from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

The description of holdup.
Federal authorities said it would be 10 minutes before the value of the lost can be approximated. Ordinarily, the mail contains little currency.

Prof. Voelisch, who has delivered mail for 16 years, left the Federal Building at 7 a. m. with the sack slung over his shoulder.

Two men behind walked Frank Batty, the guard, a former army man.

They crossed Clark street, a major artery of traffic, and began hiking north when four men appeared and closed in on them from the rear.

Stanny grabbed for his pistol,
but before his hand touched it,
the other two of the desperadoes pinned his arms, rendering him powerless.

Two others dashed forward, pinned Voelisch's side, and reached the mail sacks from his shoulder.

No License Number.
A fifth member of the gang appeared driving a car which had been parked around the corner.

The pair who had seized Voelisch handed the sacks into the rear of the machine and then scrambled in themselves.

The two who had attacked Stan-ny, having disarmed him, leaped away from the guard and jumped into the car. He picked up speed and shot out of the street.

"Get the license number," shouted Stanny.

"There isn't any," replied Voelisch.

Voelisch and Stanny com-mandered a taxicab and chased the robbers' car through the heart of the downtown district, but the taxi was thickening and they lost the trail after a few blocks.

By a coincidence, a double police patrol was on duty throughout the city at the time of the robbery, 200 men having been ordered to report early because of threatened disturbances at emergency relief stations.

Alarm Too Late.
When radio alarms were broadcast, squad cars rushed to all sides over the Chicago River, bounding the Loop to the north and west, but by this time the robbers were thought to have reached the residential sections, and, possibly, Lincoln Park.

Voelisch and Stanny said they lost a good glimpse of only two of the robbers. The leader of the gang was described as being about 20 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, and weighing 160 pounds. He had a fine complexion and a round face, Stanny said, and wore a red sweater, dark trousers and a gray coat. The second man also appeared to be about 25, Stanny said, and was more slender and taller than his companion.

At the First National Bank, it was said that the stolen mail came from correspondent banks in all parts of the country. Neither the First National nor the First Union Bank will suffer any loss by reason of the robbery, the Government being liable to the senders.

DR. EINSTEIN COMING TO U. S., VISAS GIVEN

To Sail Dec. 10, as Scheduled, for California by Way of Panama Canal.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Dec. 6.—Dr. Albert Einstein was informed this morning that the United States State Department had granted him and his wife permission to come to the United States, and they said they would leave for the United States
Dec. 10, as scheduled.

The Women's Patriot Corporation of the United States had objected to the projected visit on the ground that Dr. Einstein belonged to Communist organizations, an objection that was forwarded to Berlin.

The news of the State Department's action reached Frau Einstein at the Einstein summer home at Caputh.

"It is splendid," she said. "From the deluge of cables reaching us last night and this morning, we know Americans of all classes were deeply disturbed over the case. The professor and I assure you we were quite determined last night to turn our backs on America forever. Now that the visa has been straightened out, of course, we can leave as scheduled."

Granting of permission followed the appearance of the Einsteins before the United States Consul-General to persons going to the United States.

The professor, whose theories of relativity have helped revolutionize mathematics in recent years, was asked the usual routine questions put to persons going to the United States.

When the Consul-General started asking about his political affiliations, the professor became indignant, and demanded to know what the proceedings were about.

Frau Einstein was even more indignant. She denied her husband was a Communist, declaring he had no political faith except that he was confirmed pacifist.

"My husband felt so deeply humiliated," Frau Einstein explained. "He did not feel he could do it."

At the same time he keenly regretted that his decision to cancel his engagements in the United States might cause difficulties for the institutions under whose auspices he is going to America, and that he must forego the pleasures of working with his American colleagues.

Later the Consul-General telephoned that the Einstein visa was ready in Berlin whenever the Einsteins wanted it.

Prof. Einstein plans to go to California first by way of the Panama Canal for study at Mount Wilson Observatory. Later he will become head of the school of mathematics of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton University. His Princeton appointment is for life.

Adolf Hitler's National Socialist newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, commended the action of the women's Patriot Corporation of America in demanding exclusion of Prof.
Einstein.

"We congratulate the American women for demanding Einstein's exclusion," the paper said. "We hope they succeed, though we do not want to keep the Jewish Bol-shevist, Einstein, in Germany."

OWNER IS KILLED ABOARD YACHT AT LONG BEACH, CAL.

Walter Wanderwell Called From Dining Salon, Shot in Back—Eight Men, Seven Women Held.

HAD BEEN PLANNING ROUND-WORLD CRUISE

All of the Passengers and Members of Crew Detained as Material Witnesses Pending Inquiry.

By the Associated Press.
LONG BEACH, CAL., Dec. 6.—
Eight women and seven men, passengers or members of the crew of the 110-foot round-the-world yacht Carma, were booked at the Long Beach city jail as material witnesses today in the mysterious killing of Capt. Walter Wanderwell, globe trotter.

Wanderwell was slain aboard the vessel last night after he was called from the dining salon by a man who appeared at a screened port hole and asked for the captain.
Companions, with whom he was discussing a round-the-world cruise, found him in his cabin, shot in the back, his right hand covering his face and a bunch of keys dangling from his left hand.

Those held are Lord Edward Eugene Montague, London, England;
Mary and Marion Smith of Atlanta, Ga.; Florence Wagon, Los Angeles;
Nellie Parks, Boston; Forrest Plim-mer, Hollywood; E. W. Owen, Los Angeles; Jack Craig, Hollywood;
Capt. James Farris, Portland, Ore.;
Miss Ruth Loucks, Portland, Ore.; Cuthbert Willis and Mrs. Willis, Los Angeles; Edmund Zernanski, Hollywood; Miss Eugenia Noble, Los Angeles, and Miss Aline Allen, Los Angeles.

Only four of the passengers, the Smith sisters, Willis and Zernanski, were said to have been aboard the yacht when Wanderwell was slain.
The remainder of the party was detained when they returned from a theater ashore.

Thirty rifles stored for the intended ocean voyage were intact.
Police reported the fatal wound was caused by a revolver bullet.

Wanderwell's two children were asleep in a cabin only a few doors from the room where he was slain.
Mrs. Wanderwell was visiting friends in Hollywood.

Wanderwell, whose real name Government records show was Varian Johannes Troczynski and who was said to have been in America as an alien at Atlanta, Ga., during the war, had recently purchased the Carma, a former liquor runner, at a Government auction.

The Carma was to sail this week for Honolulu on the first leg of the round-the-world voyage.

Wanderwell had organized the trip despite the ruling of port authorities that his craft was unseaworthy. Officials explained they were powerless to stop him because his prospective passengers, who responded to newspaper advertisements, signed on as members of the crew.

He bought the boat, once valued at $75,000, for $2200. Because he was not a United States citizen, his six-year-old daughter, Vairy, was registered as the legal owner. She was born in Miami, Fla.

World trips are not new to Wan-derwell. For eight years he traveled about the globe with his wife, Aloha, filming travelogues. At different times he virtually circled the world by automobile and bicycle, his wanderings forming the subject for extensive lecture tours.

On several occasions since 1917
he was investigated by Federal authorities, and in March, 1925, was fined $500 for wearing a Sam Browne belt, a violation of the National Defense act. At the time of that trial here, the court was petitioned to make Aloha a ward of the Juvenile Court, but the pair later were married.

$56,000 JUDGMENT AGAINST CORNELIUS VANDERBILT JR.
Order by Default Entered in Action
Over Stock Deal of Newspaper Corporation.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—A judgment of $56,000 by default was granted in Supreme Court today against Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., in an action brought by Ralph J.
Cebrian of San Francisco in connection with a stock transaction of the Vanderbilt Newspapers, Inc.

When the case was called today counsel for Cebrian moved for a summary judgment on the basis of the complaint without going to trial. As neither Vanderbilt nor his attorney were in court the motion was granted by default.

The amount of the judgment represents $50,000 Cebrian alleges Vanderbilt owes him and $6000 in interest.

LINER'S BIG DYNAMO FAILS; PASSENGERS EAT BY CANDLELIGHT

Conte di Savoia Second Italian Steamer in Trouble on Maiden Voyage.

By the Associated Press.
U. S. CONTE DI SAVOIA, AT SEA, Dec. 6.—This new Italian liner en route to New York on its maiden voyage ran into difficulties with a turbo-generator during the night, which put the main dynamo room out of business and caused the captain to reduce speed.

The captain's quarters permitted the statement that the trouble was caused by the breaking of a discharge pipe from a turbo-generator at 5 p. m. yesterday. This caused a leak which was repaired and reinforced during the night.

There was no panic. The passengers were reassured and ship's officers said there was no danger.
Dinner was served by candlelight last night. At 2 a. m. repairs on the generator were completed and the vessel proceeded on its course.

CROWD CHEERS MANN

Business Man, Convicted in Lottery Case, Addresses Gathering at Station.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 6.— Conrad H. Mann, president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, was welcomed at the Union Station by a cheering crowd when he returned home last night from New York, where he was convicted of violating the Federal lottery laws in connection with an enterprise of the Eagles Lodge.

"We still have faith in you," read one of the banners carried by some of his friends. The crowd was so large that police had to form a lane to permit exit from the station.

Mann addressed the station gathering briefly, expressing confidence that he ultimately would be cleared of the charges. He has announced an intention to carry the case to the United States Supreme Court if necessary.

were: Democrats—Romieu, Loxier, liam E. Hull. Total, 5.

Republicans: Against—Morton D.

Comment by Rainey.
Democratic Floor Leader Henry
T. Rainey of Illinois announced shortly after the vote that defeat of the Garner resolution seemed to make the extra session necessary.

"The vote we got was a wonderful one," he said. "It was a moral victory for the opponents of prohibition. We were informed that four members who were absent would have voted for the resolution had they been present."

"Lame ducks, many of whom were defeated by vets in the last election, beat the resolution. We lost the votes of 10 Republicans who had been reported willing to vote for repeal."

Speaker Garner would not comment on the possibility of an extra session as a result of yesterday's defeat of his resolution. He announced, however, that so far as he was able, he would do everything possible to prevent a vote on any repeal resolution that did not conform to the Democratic platform. He said that he did not think the resolution of Sen. Berton Carter Glass (Dem.), Virginia, met the test.

Little Chance This Session.
In view of the strong disposition in the present Senate to write explicit safeguards for the dry states, as well as an anti-saloon provision, into any repeal amendment, the chances are heavily against repeal legislation at this session. Advocates of outright repeal are opposed to a qualified amendment, which would run counter to the Democratic platform.

70 Republicans and 11

Month, Take Stand Against Resolution.

By RAYMOND F. BRANDT,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The probability of an extra session of the next Congress loomed large today as a result of the rejection yesterday by the House of the Garner resolution for "naked repeal" of the eighteenth amendment by a vote of 272 to 144. A change of only six votes would have given the repeal measure the necessary two-thirds majority.

The issue was determined by the 81 negative votes cast by the "lame-duck" members—Representatives who were repudiated at the polls last month. Of these, 70 were Republicans and 11 were Democrats.

TELEPHONE UNIT FIRST TO REACH ITS RELIEF QUOTA

$300 Bell Employees Pledge $30,000 or 68 Hours and 11 Minutes of Aid to Needy.

INITIAL REPORT MEETING TOMORROW

Needs of the 32 Health Agencies in the Campaign Are Being Emphasized by Workers.

Daily meetings of workers in the Relief Campaign will be held beginning tomorrow, at 12:30 p. m. in the ballroom of Hotel Statler. At these meetings, reports will be made of the progress made in the task of raising $30,000 by the 32 health agencies, including those of last year's Community Fund and of the formerly separated Catholic and Jewish agencies.

The telephone unit of relief subscriptions was the first to be announced as complete. Employees of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. in the city and St. Louis County, 3800 in number, began their subscription process Nov. 24 and yesterday reported their total of $30,000 had been reached at the rate of $7.33 per minute.

The first group in the telephone organization to complete its list was the building and supply department. The engineers, traffic, accounting and other groups followed.

The girls in the stenographic department reported subscriptions of 75 per cent more than their share in the Community Fund last year's campaign held at the end of 1931 and early in the present year.

Circuit Clerk's Office Next. The 74 employees of the Circuit Clerk's office also reported completion of their subscription list, a total of $1226, of which $351.50 was paid in cash.

The needs of the 32 health agencies in the campaign, which include hospitals, and the free work of hospitals, clinics and visiting nurses for health care of poor families, are being emphasized in the appeal for subscriptions.

E. E. Steger, assistant to the chairman of the campaign, compiled statements of physicians and nurses as to the extent of the present year's free health care, and the medical authorities hold that the withdrawal of these health facilities would give disease a foothold, and that the effects would be felt for years.

Some persons, neglect now would mean a loss of health after a few years. At present, the benefits received from past health care are manifest in the general good health conditions existing among many of the poor.

"Community's Future Health." We hold in our hand today the community's future health," Dr. Louis H. Buringham, superintendent of Barnes Hospital, said. "If funds are not raised to care for those who need immediate attention, there is grave danger to many. Because of lack of funds, we have had to cut our number of free beds by one-third, at a time when there was need for three times the normal number. Funds allotted to us for a year's free hospitalization had to be used in 10 months, because of pressing demands. The hospitals are equipped, as to staff and equipment, to care for many more persons than their money appropriations will permit."

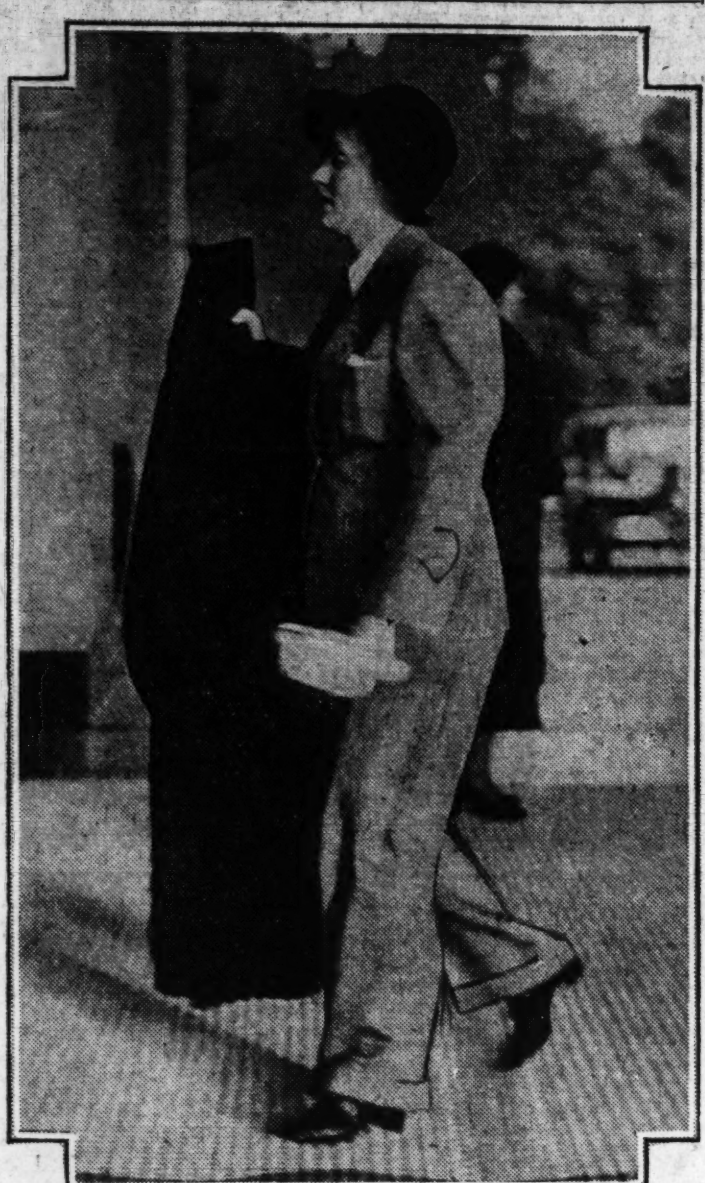

Miss E. Muriel Anscombe, superintendent of Jewish Hospital, said the present low rate of sickness could not be expected to continue, and that the hardships of unemployment would increase sickness. The demand for hospital care will be diminished rather than increased, she held.

Hospitals participating in the campaign will give 331,148 days of free and semi-free care in the coming year. It is estimated. In addition, 27,116 days of maternity care, 267,827 free treatments at clinics, and 114,132 calls on the sick in their homes, are estimated to be included in the provision.

Special Appeal to Jews. Aaron S. Raub, president of the Jewish Federation, and Leo C. Fulmer, executive vice-chairman of the United Relief Campaign, have sent out a letter addressed to Jewish men and women of St. Louis, urging support of the campaign. The letter is:

"As you well know, never before have so many heart-weary humans been in need of help as in this dark hour. Because the task is so great and because our brothers of other creeds have just as great a task, we feel that one manhood united effort working side by side, will secure the greatest benefits. As Jews we have a double obligation to perform—we must respond once more to humanity's call for help. We have always had the reputation of being liberal contributors to all charities, and we want to maintain this proud heritage by subscribing generously."

$20,000,000 NEW YORK CITY PAY CUT ORDERED

Enabling Legislation Will Be Taken Up at Special Session of General Assembly.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—After trimming off about $58,000, the Board of Aldermen last night adopted the 1933 city budget of $55,555,923.

The Aldermen abolished the office of assistant to the Mayor, created by James J. Walker; the Board of Taxicab Control, the Bill Drafting Commission and the City Planning Commission. This effected a $109,980 savings. About $160,000 more was slashed off the budget by curtailing the use of city-owned automobiles.

The adoption of the budget has no effect upon the order of the Board of Estimate to trim the city salaries by $20,000,000. To accomplish this, enabling legislation must be approved by the special session of the General Assembly, called for Friday.

The Board of Aldermen effected a downward revision of the salaries of those employees not governed by mandatory civil service legislation. By this, the Aldermen lopped off about $258,000 from the budget. Coincident with the Board of Estimate's action, Comptroller Charles W. Berry disclosed that he had appealed for loans in several cities, but had been turned down.

Together with other economies initiated earlier, the salary slash ordered yesterday would trim the city budget by close to $100,000,000.

The only Republican on the board, Joseph Clark Baldwin III, read a minority report of the Finance Committee calling for a slash of $32,000,000.

The call for the special session followed the insistence of civil and banking groups that all legislation governing salary payments in New York City be repealed, enabling a complete cut in salaries.

The board said no salaries under $2000 would be trimmed and pension rights would be preserved. Coincident with the Board of Estimate's action, Comptroller Charles W. Berry disclosed that he had appealed for loans in several cities, but had been turned down.

Persons wishing to contribute food, toys and clothing are asked to notify Salvation Army headquarters, 3620 Finney avenue, or telephone JEFFERSON 8590.

E. ST. LOUIS DRIVE CONTINUED Only $979 Pledged in $103,877 Relief Campaign.

The East St. Louis Community Chest Fund drive will be continued another week because of failure to obtain the $103,877 sought. It was announced yesterday by Lisle Lenny, chairman of the drive. Only $979 had been pledged yesterday. Last year $89,000 was raised in a prolonged campaign.

INQUIRY BY BAR IN RECEIVERSHIPS IN CIRCUIT COURT

St. Louis Association Votes Almost Unanimously for Investigation in Reply to Criticisms.

Circuit Court receiverships of business establishments are to be investigated by the St. Louis Bar Association, to determine whether criticisms are justified and whether changes in the receivership laws are desirable.

Meeting at the Coronado Hotel last night, the association approved the inquiry with only a few dissenting votes. About 100 members were present. In recommending the survey, William T. Jones, president of the association and chairman of the Executive Committee, related that lawyers had made the following complaints about Circuit Court receiverships: Receivers have been appointed when not needed or justified. Costs of some receiverships have been too high in proportion to the assets involved.

Excessive fees have been allowed some receivers and attorneys have been appointed in cases where one would do. Many receivers have not been qualified to direct the businesses in which placed.

Politicians have been appointed receivers occasionally. Some lawyers have been able to have receivers named without advance notice to the defendants.

Claude W. McElwee, associated with the law firm of Forstet, Mudd, Blair & Habenicht, which has handled many receiverships, objected that the investigation should cover Federal Court also. Jones explained that fewer receiverships were handled in Federal Court and that the investigation should cover Federal Court also. Jones explained that fewer receiverships were handled in Federal Court and that the investigation should cover Federal Court also.

Israel Treiman, an associate professor at Washington University law school, has outlined for the association's Executive Committee a tentative basis for the survey. The committee plans to engage students of the law school to carry on the work under Treiman's direction.

They will search Circuit Court files for the last five years, abstracting data on receiverships. The association will pay them small amounts. Jones announced that establishment of a citizens' bondholders' protective committee, to represent the investing public in cases of bond defaults, was being planned by the association. It would take the place of privately formed committees with the idea of preventing abuses which have been charged to some of the private committees.

The Real Estate Exchange, Jones said, has promised co-operation with the protective committee and the Chamber of Commerce is considering the plan.

NEW TRIAL DENIED IN SETTING ASIDE OF BORDLEY WILL

Judge Rutledge in Ruling Refers to "Unfortunate Arrogance and Insolence" of Bank's Attorneys.

Referring to the "unfortunate arrogance, insolence and dominant disposition of counsel" representing the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co., Circuit Judge Rutledge today overruled a motion by attorneys for the bank and beneficiaries of the $1,000,000 will of Mrs. Blanche Bordley for a new trial in the contest in which the will was set aside last April.

In a lengthy opinion reviewing the evidence in the case and going into detail on his instructions to the jury, Judge Rutledge said that the bank's counsel "appeared to have expected more than other clients' and would compel their requests or views to be complied with and even go to ridiculous extremes to show their wishes must be obeyed."

Concerning charges by the bank's attorneys that the Court exercised an influence over the jury by appearing to favor attorneys for Mrs. Adele E. Tatum, sister of Mrs. Bordley who was contesting the will, Judge Rutledge says the charges are so "vicious, contemptuous and unreasonable" as to "merit severe censure and punishment."

The motion for a new trial pointed out that unemployed men may have been grateful to the Court for permitting them to serve during the month required for trial of the contest.

The opinion goes into elaborate discussion of the position of trust companies in drawing up wills and handling trust estates for such wills, as the bank did in the case of Mrs. Bordley, who left the major portion of her estate in trust for her children. The Court avers that the present case involves "a question of great public importance overreaching the value of any estate or any benevolence obtained or any personal benefit to individuals."

TAKES $3000 TO DROP CLAIM AGAINST CHANCELLOR ESTATE

Henry Stevens or Chancellor, Alleges He Is Son of Testator, Who Was Known as Bachelor. The claim of Henry Chancellor, a resident of California, to the $86,000 estate of Dr. Eustathius Chancellor, on the ground that he was Dr. Chancellor's son, was settled yesterday for $3000. The settlement was approved by Probate Judge Holtkamp.

Dr. Chancellor, one of the founders of the old Beaumont Medical College, left his estate in trust for Mrs. Lillian M. Oldham, his secretary for many years and his housekeeper at 5327 Devonshire avenue, providing that the estate should go at her death to his two brothers or their heirs.

Henry Chancellor, who says he is known also as Earl E. Stevens, asserted he was born of the marriage of Dr. Chancellor and Miss Ellen Teal, which he said took place in 1882. His mother, now the wife of Jacob Smith, former bartender, accepted $5 as settlement of whatever claims she may have. Dr. Chancellor was always known as a bachelor, according to old friends who testified in depositions. He died in June, 1931, at the age of 77. The settlement with Henry Chancellor was arranged by the St. Louis Union Trust Co., in charge of the estate, and the heirs.

Missouri Bank Robbed of $600. By the Associated Press. STEPHENSVILLE, Mo., Dec. 6.—Two men held up the cashier of the Cook Station Bank, in the southern part of Crawford County, yesterday, and escaped in an automobile with between $600 and $700.

'TICK-TOCK' EISELDER, WATCH REPAIRER, DIES

In Business More Than 50 Years as Was Father—Victim of Pneumonia.

Isaac E. Eiselder, 76-year-old repairer of clocks and watches, known to his customers as "Tick-tock," died today of pneumonia. He resided at 5059A Northland avenue, where he had maintained his workshop for the last 10 years.

Mr. Eiselder had followed the trade for more than 50 years as had his father, the late William E. Eiselder. The father, who had repaired watches repairing in Hanover, Germany, came here as a young man and established a shop at Broadway and Howard street. As his five sons reached manhood they joined him in the business. He died in 1905 and later two of the sons died.

Then Oliver Eiselder went to Kansas City and Edward Eiselder went to Blackwell, Ok., to set up their own businesses, leaving Isaac as the proprietor of the St. Louis shop.

Meanwhile, the shop had been moved westward on Washington avenue near Jefferson avenue. Isaac Eiselder established a reputation as a painstaking worker and his customers passed the word along. "Tick-tock" Eiselder down on Washington," they advised their friends. Later the shop was moved to the Holland Building, where it remained until about 10 years ago.

Mr. Eiselder is survived by his widow, two sons and five daughters. The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Dehmann-Haral undertaking establishment, 1905 Union boulevard. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

GETS LIFE FOR KIDNAPING

Robber of Banker Convicted at South Bend, Ind. By the Associated Press. SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 6.—Samuel Reibman, 26 years old, of Chicago, was convicted by a jury last night of the kidnaping of Dick M. Johnson, a bank president, who was robbed of $13,100 by his abductors.

Reibman was said by police to have led a jail break shortly after his arrest for the kidnaping. Clarence Henry, an alleged accomplice, was sentenced to life imprisonment for the same robbery but escaped from State prison in 1931 and still is at large. Reibman faces a mandatory life sentence.

Bruised and shaken, the men, Lieut. George Campbell, Corporal C. W. Hollowell, Corporal Mitchell Murphy and Private A. A. Hunner, managed to keep afloat until a boat rescued them. The plane, piloted by Lieut. Campbell, was traveling about 75 miles an hour three miles off shore to test the sea level speed when it nosed over. The wreckage sank. Stolen Truck Collides With Another, Then Hits Parked Auto After Holdup of Salesman.

Fleeing from the scene of a hold-up of a tobacco salesman yesterday afternoon, a robber ran the salesman's truck into another machine and was forced to continue on foot, leaving behind the loot and his automatic pistol.

The salesman Thomas Van Hook, 1223A North Market street, employe of the Peter Hauptmann Tobacco Co., had made a delivery in the 6300 block of South Grand boulevard when the robber boarded the truck and ordered him to drive to an alley in the 6100 block of Louisiana avenue. Van Hook was ordered out of the truck and the robber drove away with $150 worth of cigars and cigarettes and $35 in a sack.

At Iron street and Virginia avenue, the stolen truck collided with a truck driven by Robert W. Bates, 8113 Monroe avenue, Vinita Park.
The stolen machine then hit a parked automobile and parts of the wreckage broke out a $75 window in a grocery.

Witnesses said the robber climbed out of the truck and staggered away, holding his head as if injured.
With his pistol he left a pair of green goggles he had worn in the holdup.

Two Salesmen Robbed of $50, Apparently by Same 3 Men.

Two salesmen were held up in the northwest section of the city yesterday afternoon, apparently by the same robbers.

Joseph Miller, 1327 Pendleton avenue, driver for the Fleischmann Yeast Co., was robbed of $20 by two men, one with a revolver, who went up to his truck in the 1100 block of Howell street. They escaped in an automobile with a third man.

Joseph Good, 4161 Osceola street, employe of the Colonial Baking Co., was held up at his truck in the 5000 block of Kingshighway Northwest. Two men took $30 and escaped with an accomplice in an automobile.

Martin Sandfelder, 5603 Kingsbury Court, was forced into a hallway at 605 Clara avenue last night by two men, one of them armed, who robbed him of $20.

Mrs. Bettie Hungerford, 5054
Washington avenue, reported to police the theft of a $400 diamond ring which she had hidden in a medicine cabinet at her home. She said she suspected a itinerant Negro whom she had hired to wash windows recently.

Miss Louise Arment, superintendent of Lutheran Hospital, has asked police to investigate a series of thefts at the nurses' home, 2630 Potomac street, during the last two weeks. The most recent theft was that of 10 pay envelopes, containing a total of $66.75, from the office of the home yesterday. Previously smaller amounts had been stolen from nurses' rooms.

Basketballs, baseballs, uniforms and other sport equipment valued at $200 were stolen during the week-end from a third-floor storeroom at Stowe Teachers' College, 4506 St. Louis avenue.

HOWE CASE REHEARING DENIED COMMONWEALTH STEEL CO.

U. S. Court of Appeals, However, Delays Accounting So Defendants
Can Petition Supreme Court.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago denied a motion yesterday for a rehearing on its decision granting Andrew F.
Howe, University City inventor, an accounting from the Commonwealth Steel Co.

The court, however, granted a stay on a mandate requiring the accounting to begin, at the request of attorneys for the company who announced they would petition the United States Supreme Court to review the case. Should this court refuse to grant a writ of certiorari the decision of the Appellate Court automatically will be upheld and a master in chancery will begin to determine how much money the inventor should receive for the use of his patent.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Dec. 6.—The body of Catherine Sels, 29 years old, was recovered late yesterday from the wreckage of a plane which crashed in Lake Erie Saturday with a party of two men and two women returning from Toledo.

When the plane first was inspected Saturday, the body of Miss Marcelle Kopnitsky, 16, of Puntstaveney, Pa., niece of Miss Sels, was removed. Then the wreckage sank.
Dragging was resumed today for the bodies of Patrick Tuohy, 45-year-old war-time pilot and veteran commercial flyer, and Thomas Neal Brown of Detroit, who owned the plane until he sold it a week ago.
The four took off from Detroit Friday evening on a flight to Pittsburgh, but turned back to Detroit from Toledo Saturday.

George Terry, 26 years old, a pa-

Circuit Attorney today. Terry, re-with William Sullivan, alias Murphy, Doyle and Johnson. Both were

ERNEST R. COOPER
Interior Architect

J. STUART CLINGMAN
Designer of Furniture

Every family of culture and refinement that enjoys home and family life, and derives delight from carefully selected and thoughtfully treasured home furnishings will welcome this announcement.

On Wednesday, December 7th, Lammert's will open for public inspection a series of room interiors, known as the Irwin Rooms, complete in furniture, furnishings, wall treatments and color harmonies. These rooms have been conceived and executed by two foremost artists in the field today. Each and every detail has been selected for fitness to the ensemble and reflects eminent good taste throughout.

Contrary to first impressions, these rooms or the component parts of them, are not high priced.
A few years ago rooms, or their furnishings, such as these would have been impossible to create at anywhere near their cost today.

Now, under the intelligent direction of two master interior designers, entire room interiors of discriminating merit and worthiness have been brought to new and undreamed of low price levels.

These rooms were designed, and the furniture and furnishings selected by two collaborating artists—Mr. Ernest R. Cooper, interior architect, and Mr. J. Stuart Clingman, designer—now heading the designing staff of the Robert W. Irwin Company of Grand Rapids. In these two men is combined a knowledge of architecture, of interior decoration, and of the best in furniture design that has been handed down from the great masters of the past.

These Irwin Rooms represent the experience and accumulated knowledge of these two artists reduced to tangible form for the benefit of thoughtful homemakers—a worthy art contribution to American homes.

Accordingly, every home maker who takes pride in the home furnishings, and who wishes to create an atmosphere of good taste and of discrimination in the home, is invited to visit these Irwin Rooms.

GOV. ELECT PARK WONT BE RUSHED ON APPOINTMENTS

Declares He May Not Name
St. Louis Police and Election Boards for "Quite Some Time."

By CURTIS A. BETTS.
Governor-elect Guy B. Park came to St. Louis for 48 hours, listened to the pleas of the job hunters and to the advice of politicians, business and professional men, and departed last night without having reached a decision on St. Louis Police and Election Board appointments.

No announcement of his selections is to be expected until after his inauguration Jan. 9. He said that "it might be quite some time after that."

The new Governor is approaching the problem of the selection of his subordinates with care and caution, refusing to be hurried. "It is my opinion," he said, "that the success or failure of my administration as Governor may easily be decided by the character of my appointments. I am not going to be in a rush. Before I take office I shall probably choose the Adjutant-General because his services will be required in the inaugural arrangements. I shall probably name my private secretary and one member of the Prison Board, the latter to enable the new board to have representation in the prison inventory at the close of the year. I may not name any others for some time."

Produces Good Impression.
The visit of the Governor-elect did much to dispel fears that had existed due to the fact that Park's nomination was directed by Ex-Gov. Tom Pendergast of Kansas City, that St. Louis was in for four years of political rule in the Police and Election departments.

The character of his important conferences while in the city created the distinct impression that while he will not ignore the element in local Democratic politics which gave active support to his friend, Francis M. Wilson, for the nomination for Governor, and on Wilson's death, to him, that the politicians will not dictate appointments.

They can, and undoubtedly will, suggest names, but the final decision appears more likely to rest on the advice the Governor will receive from two personal lawyer-friends than on the political group.

Probable Advisers.
While there has been no official confirmation, the impression which prevailed following Park's departure was that, when the list of those suggested for St. Louis appointments has been narrowed to those to whom the local Democratic leaders find no objection because of political factional or other reasons, it will be submitted to Guy A. Thompson, former president of the American Bar Association, and former Judge William T. Jones, president of the St. Louis Bar Association, to further narrow it to men they believe will meet high public approval regardless of politics. They are intimate personal friends of the Governor-elect.

Former Congressman William L. Igoe, manager of the Wilson primary campaign in St. Louis, is expected to be the man who will pass on the political availability of the men suggested, and it is also thought he will have an active part in approving or disapproving them from the standpoint of their availability as representative citizens. The appointments also must meet the approval of State Senators Kinney, Brogan and Doran, who will on confirmation in the Senate have the power of veto of any names presented.

WIFE NO. 1 SUES NO. 2 FOR ALIENATION

Files $1,000,000 Action After Second Marriage of Dr. Kinard of Kansas City.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 6.—Charging alienation of affections, papers in a suit for $1,000,000 were served on Mrs. Gail Stephens Kinard, second wife of Dr. Kerwin W. Kinard, surgeon of Kansas City, Mo., here early today. The present Mrs. Kinard, wealthy horsewoman and social register, is accused of having stolen the love of Dr. Kinard from Mrs. Ada Lee Kinard of Kansas City, his former wife, whom he married 14 years ago.

Mrs. Kinard No. 1 accuses her rival of stealing the doctor's love by seducing him in Toledo, O., Nov. 14, the ceremony being the climax of a romance which had endured for 25 years, from the time they met in Berlin when the surgeon was a medical student and Mrs. Stephens an art student.

Mrs. Kinard No. 1 accuses her rival of stealing the doctor's love by seducing him after a chance meeting in Detroit two years ago.

The papers were served on Mrs. Gail Stephens Kinard as she was at breakfast in the Union Station awaiting the arrival of her husband. "This is ridiculous," she cried, rising and attempting to push aside the special sheriff's deputy who held the document. "It is perfectly outrageous."

Mrs. Ada Lee Kinard obtained a divorce from the doctor Nov. 11, three days before his second marriage.

ATTACKED AT FRONT DOOR

Granite City Man Says He Was Tied, Robbed of $100.

When he answered a knock at the front door of his home at 7 o'clock last night, Edward Coffey, 68-year-old molder, 2824 East Twenty-fifth street, Granite City, was attacked by two men who bound, gagged and robbed him of about $100 and a watch.

Coffey, who lives with a son and daughter, was in the house alone. He released himself soon after the robbers left and reported to the police.

CHARGES IN MADISON BANK CLOSING DROPPED

Retiring State's Attorney Also Dismisses Murder Indictments for Lack of Evidence.

Eighteen indictments, including three charging murder, were dismissed by State's Attorney Alvin C. Bohm of Madison County, who was succeeded in office yesterday by Lester Geers (Dem.). Bohm and there was not sufficient evidence in the cases to convict.

An indictment charged conspiracy to defraud the Tri-City State Bank of Madison of $40,166, returned against three former directors and the cashier, which grew out of the closing of the bank in September, 1930, also was dismissed. Those named in the indictment are T. T. Hinde and James C. Hinde of Madison, brothers; Charles N. Smith, Madison Postmaster, and Roger M. Studebaker, former cashier, who is serving a term in the Southern Illinois Penitentiary at Chester for embezzlement.

Three Murder Indictments. The murder indictments were against Mrs. Mary Toppitt of Alton, Ill., charged with the fatal wounding of a relative; Joseph Bolen, Madison County farmer, charged with killing a neighbor, August Kaulen; and James and Louis Munson of Alton, brothers, charged with the death of John Lindley of Alton in a fight.

Seven indictments against Mrs. Josephine Wooten, wife of Freddie Wooten, Southern Illinois gangster, including one charging robbery, and the others in connection with aiding her husband and a companion to escape from the Madison County jail in 1928, were among those dismissed. She is now serving a term at the women's prison at Dwight, Ill., for aiding in the jail break.

Robbery Charges Dropped. Charges of robbery against Peter Stevens and Thomas Flynn, associates of Tommy Hayes, who was shot to death, were dismissed. Stevens and Flynn were charged with holding up a motorist near the Eagle Park resort.

Other indictments dismissed were against Louis Calone and Lex Alex Winters, for arson; Ike Edwards, for possession of liquor; John McCormick of Alton, for embezzlement of $294; Ernest Jameson, for robbery; and Edwin and George Franklin and Ralph Whyte, for statutory charges.

RULING ON BENCH WARRANTS

U. S. Supreme Court Holds Federal Judges Must Issue Warrants.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—In a test case, the Supreme Court ruled today that the issuance of bench warrants by a Federal Judge is mandatory and not subject to the jurist's judgment.

The United States was sustained in its effort to compel Federal Judge Dickinson of Eastern Pennsylvania to issue a bench warrant for the arrest of Joseph V. Wiegert of Philadelphia, charged with embezzling money from the North City Trust Co. of Philadelphia. The controversy was presented to have the Supreme Court fix a rule which will control in such matters throughout the United States.

WON'T FIGHT FOR STATE REPEAL

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 6.—Young Democratic Clubs of America, through their national committee, refused yesterday to assume sponsorship, as a national organization, of movements for repeal of state prohibition laws.

However, the committee unanimously adopted a substitute resolution commending and accepting the prohibition plank of the national Democratic platform which calls for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and early modification of the Volstead act.

FOR POSTAL PAY CUT RATHER THAN HIGHER POSTAGE

Postmaster-General Says Expenses Must Be Reduced to Balance Department's Budget.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A reduction of postal expenditures "in general and the wage account in particular," rather than further rate increases to balance the postal budget, is recommended to President Hoover by Postmaster General Brown, in his annual report.

"Normal revenues can be restored only by a return of normal business activity," he said. "In the meantime, efforts to eliminate or reduce the present unprecedented postal deficit must necessarily be concentrated upon a reduction of postal expenditures in general and the wage account in particular."

"In the Postmaster General's judgment, resort should not be had to further rate increases as a means of balancing the postal budget."

Brown estimated a gross deficiency of $135,000,000 in revenue for the current fiscal year, and a net postal deficit of about $80,000,000 after allowing for non-postal expenditures and services rendered without charge to other governmental agencies.

Rate increases expected to add $100,000,000 to revenues this year, Brown said, would fall short of balancing the postal budget. He added, however, there had been "no unexpected diversion of business from the mails as the result of the higher rates."

He attributed "the present disappointing volume of business to the continued commercial stagnation," but said the higher letter postage rate had resulted in a diminished use of the mails by companies sending out bills.

Brown recommended a return to a 2-cent rate for local letters, because of the lower cost of this service and "the widespread public convenience which will result."

With this change and such others as experience may suggest, Brown proposed that existing rates be continued "until the postal finances have been restored to a sound basis."

"Until that time," he said, "it is the department's view that the postal facilities should not be extended or enlarged, except as may be necessary in new and growing communities, and that nonessential service should be everywhere dispensed with."

Increasing revenues from a return of business activity, he said, should be returned to the public through lower postage rates as soon as "this can be done without destroying the balance" between postal receipts and expenditures. Receipts for the 1932 fiscal year were placed at $588,171,922, against "audited expenditures" of $793,722,534.

The mail volume had declined to about the level of 1922, Brown said, and revenues had fallen off $117,000,000 since 1930, while expenditures dropped only $10,000,000. He explained that fixed and contract charges which "cannot be suddenly curtailed to correspond with a shrinkage in the volume of mail," prevented a further decrease in expenditures.

Estimate for Current Year.
He predicted a further decline in expenditures during the current 1933 fiscal year and estimated that against expected receipts of $735,000,000 the outlay for "strictly postal purposes" would be reduced to $680,000,000.

Criticism of the ocean mail service was attributed by Brown to "a misapprehension of the facts due to misstatements circulated by prejudiced or partisan propagandists." He said the ocean mail was aiding in developing an American merchant marine, and was "of incalculable benefit to all classes of our people."

He repeated recommendations for the enactment of a bill pending in the House to provide for purchase or construction of postoffice stations, branches and garages. Among his other suggestions were: To increase postal savings limits from $2500 to $5000; to permit railroad and electric car companies to transport mail by motor vehicles.

Radio Lottery Balked.

The first radio lottery encountered by the department, Brown said, came from "a high powered station on the Mexican border." Some of its operators, he reported, were American citizens and mail to them was stopped as fast as the names were announced over the air. This action, Brown said, saved thousands of dollars to Americans, and the promoters were convicted of violating lottery laws and sent to prison. Fraud orders also were issued against names used by a radio lottery operating at Havana, he said.

Mexican Engineer Shot.

By the Associated Press.
VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Dec. 6.—Carlos Solis Avendano, military engineer and a member of the commission sent by the President of Mexico to allot public lands, was wounded from ambush Sunday as he was inspecting a ranch which is to be parceled out. The Commission was shot from his horse. Investigators said he was attacked because of the controversy over the division of land, which is opposed by some workers and favored by others.

GARY, BOOTLEGGER SLAIN

Lured From Home by Phone Call and Shot to Death.

By the Associated Press.
GARY, Ind., Dec. 6.—Alex Sante, 40 years old, a minor alcohol peddler, was slain last night a short time after he had been lured from his home by a telephone call.

Sante, in response to the call, his wife said, drove to an intersection less than two blocks from his home. As he stopped his car another automobile drew up and five shots were fired into Sante's head. The killers' car sped away.

COLDS GO THROUGH 3 STAGES!

And They are Far Easier Stopped in the First than in the Second or Third!

A cold ordinarily passes through three stages—the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. Relief is twice as easy in the first stage.

For prompt relief take a couple of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine immediately upon catching cold. This will usually expel the cold overnight and thus prevent the spread of the infection within your system.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is effective because it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels. Kills the cold germs and fever in the system. Relieves the headache and grippiness feeling. Tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is absolutely safe to take. Contains no narcotics and produces no bad after effects. It is regarded the world over as the standard cold tablet. Comes in handy, pocket size box, cellophane wrapped. For sale in every drug store in America. Make it your first aid in all cases of colds and grippe. Accept no substitutes.

ALL-BRAN STOPPED HIS SLEEPLESSNESS AND TIRED FEELING

Cereal Relieved His Constipation

Read this enthusiastic letter from Mr. Haraden:

"My system had been run down for quite some time. About three weeks ago, I started taking ALL-BRAN for breakfast. I had been unable to sleep nights, but now all I have to do is turn in, and before I know it, I am fast asleep."

"I used to have a tired feeling all day, but now that ALL-BRAN is in my home to stay, there will be no more tired feelings with me."—Mr. Carl Haraden, Main Street, Hamilton, Massachusetts.

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this safer than taking pills and drugs—often harmful! Just eat two tablespoons daily for most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

KILLS DAUGHTER AND HIMSELF
Jobless Railroad Man Ends Life in Kansas City.
By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 6.—Leaving notes indicating despondency, Jesse Anderson, 35 years old, an unemployed railroad switchman, killed his daughter, Miss Rubene Anderson, 15, and then committed suicide here yesterday.
Anderson's wife died last August of a shotgun wound suffered while hunting squirrels with her husband near their shack home in Shannon County. Coroner A. E. Huston of Shannon County released Anderson after the latter said he dropped his shotgun and it was discharged accidentally.

ECONOMIST URGES FARM ALLOTMENT PLAN

Dr. E. S. Mead Says It May Start Period of Prosperity.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6.—Dr. Edward S. Mead, professor of corporation finance at the University of Pennsylvania, told the Engineers' Club today that "the voluntary allotment plan, which represents President Roosevelt's ideas of effective farm relief, offers the best method immediately available to bring the country out of the business depression."
"The voluntary allotment plan," he said, "aims to restore farm prices at least to the levels of 1929. Since that time the gross income of American farmers, with the fall in farm prices, has declined more than four billion dollars, and the business produced by the expenditure of that four billion dollars, in the various channels into which the farmer's money goes, has declined by several times that amount. Every industry and business in the United States is suffering from the shrinkage of farm purchasing power."

"The plan is, in substance, first, the levy of an excise tax upon the consumer of food and other farm products, a tax which will be paid, in the first instance, by flour millers, meat packers and cotton and tobacco manufacturers. This tax the manufacturers will shift to the consumer by advancing his prices, so that the tax will appear as an increased cost of living."

Tax Paid to Farmer.
"Second, the proceeds of this tax will be paid to the farmer, on condition that he reduce his plant and acreage of wheat, corn, tobacco, cotton and other products, and the number of his breeding stock. Those farmers who do not reduce their production will not share in the tax."

"The application of this method of price raising will be effective, if generally introduced and if substantially all farmers co-operate in the plan—to put agriculture back on its 1929 level, to add several billion dollars to farm income."
"This measure, as soon as the law is passed, even before it is put into operation, in anticipation of a large increase in farm earnings, will act as a powerful stimulant to American business, a stimulant comparable to the war buying of 1915-1918. It will set thousands of country banks, protect farm mortgage investments, substantially increase railway traffic and earnings, stimulate immediately the lumber, cement, agricultural machinery, fertilizer, automobile and gasoline industries, all depressed by the withdrawal of farm demand."

May Start Buying Wave.
By increasing the farm demand for the products of these great industries, the voluntary allotment plan may be expected to start a wave of buying which will sweep through every channel of business, replacing depression with war-time prosperity."

"Whether this will be permanent it is impossible to predict. If the plan is made permanent, the farmer's benefit will continue. As for the city workers, their cost of living will be substantially increased by the plan, and they must gain compensation for this increased cost in larger employment and eventually in higher money wages. For the immediate future, however, the voluntary allotment plan offers a prompt way out of the business depression."

PHILADELPHIA TO SELL MOST OF ITS CITY-OWNED AUTOS

Council Expects to Save $300,000 a Year in Salaries and Maintenance.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6.—The City Council, renewing its effort to eliminate a $200,000 deficit and avert a tax increase, voted yesterday to sell all city-owned automobiles used by departmental directors, their assistants and bureau chiefs except in the Fire Bureau.
This action, it was estimated, would save the city $300,000 annually in salaries and maintenance. In addition to this saving, costs totaling more than $760,000 in jobs and maintenance items were ordered.

More than $4,800,000 has been cut to date from the $88,041,000 budget estimates for 1933 submitted by city and county department heads last September.

DAVEY WILL CONTEST DECISION

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, Dec. 6.—Mrs. Elizabeth Davey Oakley of Cleveland, a cousin, and Thomas Climo, 97 years old, of Prattville, Mich., an uncle, each will receive $100,000 from the estate of the late William Davey Jr., Probate Judge George S. Addams decreed yesterday. The estate is valued at $336,000.

Davey will directed that the estate be divided by law among 47 blood relatives. The heirs have engaged in a long court fight and already have announced that, whatever the judge's decision, the case would be taken to the Court of Appeals. Residents of Cornwall, England, descendants of the paternal grandparents of William Davey Jr., will participate in the division of the estate.

Identified as Kidnapers.
By the Associated Press.
MIAMI, Ok., Dec. 6.—Roy Wiley and Gerald Martin of Tulsa, charged with kidnaping and robbing a Miami taxicab driver, have been identified by the victim, officers said yesterday. A Tulsa lawyer, arrested for questioning in the case, was released after he was exonerated by investigators.

AUSTRALIAN FARMERS HOLDING BACK WHEAT

Message to Calgary Tells of Move in One State of Dominion.

By the Associated Press.
CALGARY, Alta., Dec. 6.—The Alberta wheat pool was informed by cable today that farmers of West Australia were withholding their current crop of wheat from markets of the world.

President Boyle of the Wheat Growers' Union of West Australia said the holding policy was general throughout the State. No reference was made to the attitude of growers in Australia's other wheat growing sections.

Announcement of the wheat-holding efforts followed other Australian statements indicating that the dominion was preparing to move its crop rapidly into world markets. It also followed Alberta effort, sponsored by Rymsey district growers, to call a general farm strike next spring and to halt wheat seeding in Western Canada entirely.

No comment on the cable was offered at the Alberta wheat pool headquarters. They disclosed, however, that harvesting was just swinging into its full stride in Australia and that delivery of the 1932-33 Australian crop would be under way in January and February.

Wheat production of West Australia last year totaled 41,361,000 bushels, while the estimate for the current year is 43,000,000 bushels, an increase of 1,639,000 bushels. The total Australian wheat crop for the current year will be approximately 210,000,000 bushels.

PROTEST BY CANADIAN PARTY ON U. S. CUSTOMS INSPECTION

They Were Treated Discourteously; Baggage Damaged.

By the Associated Press.
SARASOTA, Ont., Dec. 6.—A complete report of the examination by U. S. customs officers at Port Huron Sunday, of a party of young Canadian farmers returning from the Chicago Livestock Show at which they were exhibitors, was prepared last night by N. L. Levesque, president of the Western Ontario Conservative Association, for submission to Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa.

The examination, lasting two hours, followed complaints by the Canadian party on their outgoing trip 10 days ago, that their baggage had been damaged in a customs inspection and that they had been treated discourteously by the inspecting officers.

Levesque said he would not comment on Sunday's examination except in his official report.

TEXT OF PRESIDENT HOOVER'S ANNUAL MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Executive Calls for Balanced Budget, Banking Reorganization And International Co-Operation

Would Continue 5-Day Week and Also Reduce Pay of Some Government Employees —To Combine 50 Bureaus.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. By the Associated Press.

FOLLOWING is the text of President Hoover's annual message to Congress:

IN accord with my constitutional duty, I transmit herewith to the Congress information upon the state of the Union, together with recommendations of measures for its consideration.

Our country is at peace. Our national defense has been maintained at a high state of effectiveness. All of the executive departments of the Government have been conducted during the year with a high devotion to public interest. There has been a far larger degree of freedom from industrial conflict than hitherto known. Education and science have made further advances. The public health is today at its highest known level. While we have recently engaged in the aggressive contest of a national election, its very tranquility and the acceptance of its results furnish abundant proof of the strength of our institutions.

In the face of widespread hardship, our people have demonstrated daily a magnificent sense of humanity, of individual and community responsibility for the welfare of the less fortunate. They have grown in their conceptions and organization for co-operative action for the common welfare.

In the provision against distress during this winter, the great private agencies of the country have been mobilized again; the generosity of our people has again come into evidence to a degree in which all America may take great pride. Likewise, the local authorities and the states are engaged everywhere in supplemental measures of relief. The provisions made for loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to states that have exhausted their own resources, guarantee that there should be no hunger or suffering from cold in the country. The large majority of states are showing a sturdy cooperation in the spirit of the Federal aid.

The Surgeon-General, in charge of the Public Health Service, furnishes me with the following information upon the state of public health:

Mortality rate per 1000 of population on an annual basis from representative states:

Year	General	Infant	Child
1928	11.9	67.8	11.4
1929	11.9	67.8	11.4
1930	11.4	62.0	11.2
1931	11.2	55.0	10.6
1932	11.2	55.0	10.6

The sickness rates from data available show the same trends. These facts indicate the fine endeavor of the agencies which have been mobilized for care of those in distress.

Economic Situation.

The unparalleled world-wide economic depression has continued through the year. Due to the European collapse, the situation developed during last fall and winter into a series of most acute crises. The unprecedented emergency measures enacted and policies adopted undoubtedly saved the country from economic disaster. After serving to defend the national security, these measures began in July to show their weight and influence toward improvement of conditions in many parts of the country. The following tables of the general economic movement during the past 11 months:

Year and Month	Industrial Production	Factory Employment	Wholesale Trade	Retail Trade	Business Receipts	Personal Income	Government Receipts	Government Disbursements
December 1931	74	69.4	69	81	46	48	38	89.1
January 1932	72	68.1	64	78	39	42	31	93.9
February	69	67.8	62	78	45	41	27	98.8
March	67	66.4	61	72	41	37	26	88.0
April	63	64.3	59	60	38	36	27	82.2
May	60	62.1	54	73	37	34	26	82.0
June	59	60.0	52	71	34	36	27	78.1
July	58	58.3	51	67	32	27	27	79.2
August	58	58.8	51	66	31	29	30	73.5
September	66	60.3	54	70	33	32	30	84.0
October	66	61.1	57	70	33	32	29	84.4

The measures and policies which have procured this turn toward recovery should be continued until the depression is passed, and then the emergency agencies should be promptly liquidated. The expansion of credit facilities by the Federal Reserve System and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has been of incalculable value. The loans of the latter for reproductively works, and to the railways for the creation of employment; its support of the credit structure through loans to banks, insurance companies, railways, building and loan associations, and to agriculture has protected the savings and insurance policies of millions of our citizens and has relieved millions of borrowers from duress; they have enabled industry and business to function and expand. The assistance given to farm loan banks, the establishment of the Home Loan banks and agricultural credit associations—all in their various ramifications have placed large sums of money at the disposal of the people in protection and aid. Beyond this, the extensive organization of the country in voluntary action has produced profound results.

The following table indicates direct expenditures of the Federal Government in aid to unemployment, agriculture and financial relief over the past four years. The sums applied to financial relief multiple themselves many fold, being in considerable measure the initial capital supplied to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Farm Loan Banks, etc., which will be recovered to the Treasury.

Fiscal year ending June 30:	Unemployment	Agriculture	Financial relief
1929	$410,420,000	$19,700,000	$19,700,000
1930	$410,420,000	$19,700,000	$19,700,000
1931	$410,420,000	$19,700,000	$19,700,000
1932	$410,420,000	$19,700,000	$19,700,000
Total	$1,641,680,000	$78,400,000	$78,400,000

*Public building, highways, rivers and harbors and their maintenance, naval and other vessels construction, hospitals, etc.

Continued constructive policies promoting the economic recovery of the country must be the paramount duty of the Government. The result of the agencies we have created and the policies we have pursued has been to buttress our whole domestic financial structure, and to greatly restore credit facilities. But progress in recovery requires another element as well—that is, fully restored confidence in the future. Institutions and men may have resources and credit, but unless they have confidence progress is halting and insecure.

There are three definite directions in which action by the Government at once can contribute to strengthen further the forces of recovery by strengthening of confidence. They are the necessary foundations to any other action, and their accomplishment would at once promote employment and increase prices.

The first of these directions of action is the continuing reduction of the cost of Government expenditures, whether national, state or local. The difficulties of the country demand undiminished efforts toward economy in government in every direction. Embarked in this problem is the unquestioned balancing of the Federal budget. That is the first necessity of national stability and is the foundation of further absolutely safe and sure management. If full confidence is to be inspired, the second direction for action is the complete reorganization of our banking system. The banks to our economic life have undoubtedly been multiplied by the weakness of this system, and until they are remedied recovery will be greatly hampered.

The third direction for immediate action is vigorous and wholehearted co-operation with other Governments in the economic field. That our major difficulties find their origins in the economic weakness of foreign nations requires no demonstration. The first need today is strengthening of commodity prices. That can not be permanently accomplished by artificialities. It must be accomplished by expansion in consumption of goods through the return of stability and confidence in the world at large, and that in turn can not be fully accomplished without co-operation with other nations.

I shall in due course present the executive budget to the Congress. It will show proposed reductions in appropriations below those enacted by the last session of the Congress to the sum of $300,000,000. In addition I shall present the necessary executive orders under the recent act authorizing the reorganization of the Federal Government which, if permitted to go into force, will promote still further substantial economies. These sums in reduction of appropriations will, however, be partially offset by an increase of about $250,000,000 in uncontrollable items such as increased debt services, etc.

In the budget there is included only the completion of the Federal public works projects already undertaken or under contract. Speeding up of Federal public works during the past four years as an aid to employment has advanced many types of work improvement to the point where further expansion can not be justified in their usefulness to the Government or the people.

As an aid to unemployment we should beyond the normal constructive programs, substitute productive or so-called self-liquidating works. Loans for such purposes have been provided for through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. This change in character of projects directly relieves the taxpayer and is capable of expansion into a larger field than the direct Federal works. The reproductive works constitute an addition to national wealth and to future employment, whereas further undue expansion of Federal public works is but a burden upon the future.

The Federal construction program thus limited to commitments and work in progress under the proposed appropriations contemplated expenditures for the next fiscal year, including naval and other vessel construction, as well as other forms of public works and maintenance, or a total of $442,769,000, as compared with $717,262,000 for the present year.

The expenditure on such items over the four years ending June 30, next, will amount to $2,350,000,000, or an amount of construction work eight times as great as the cost of the Panama Canal and, except for completion of certain long-view projects, places the nation in many directions well ahead of its requirements for some years to come. A normal program of about $200,000,000 per annum should hereafter provide for the country's necessities and will permit substantial future reduction in Federal expenditures.

I recommend that the furlough system installed last year be continued not only because of the economy produced but because, as a system to respond to our needs is today a constant drain upon progress toward recovery. In this statement I am not referring to individual banks or bankers. The condition of the banking system as a whole is one of distinguished courage and ability. On the contrary, I am referring to the system itself, which is so organized, or so lacking in organization, that in an emergency its very mechanism jeopardizes or paralyzes the action of sound banks and its instability is responsible for periodic dangers to our whole economic system.

Bank failures rose in 1931 to 104 per cent of all the banks, as compared to 14 per cent of the failures of all other types of enterprises. Since Jan. 1, 1930, we have had 4665 banks suspend, with $3,800,000,000 in deposits. Partly from fear and partly from abroad, partly from these failures themselves (which indeed often caused closing of sound banks), we have witnessed hoarding of currency to an enormous sum, rising during the year to over $1,600,000,000. The results from inter-reaction of cause and effect have expressed themselves in strangulation of credit which at times has almost stifled the nation's business and agriculture. The loss of confidence, and the loss of our people are incalculable. Not alone do they lie in the losses of savings to millions of homes, injury by deprivation of working capital to thousands of small businesses, but also in the frantic pressure to recall loans to meet pressures of hoarding and in liquidation of failed banks, millions of other people have suffered in the loss of their homes and farms, businesses have been ruined, unemployment increased, and farmers' prices diminished.

That this failure to function is unnecessary and is the fault of our particular system is plainly indicated by the fact that in Great Britain, where the economic mechanism has suffered far greater shocks than our own, there has not been a single bank failure during the depression. Again in Canada, where the situation has been in large degree identical with our own, there have not been substantial bank failures.

The creation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the amendments to the Federal Reserve act served to defend the nation in a great crisis. They are not remedies; they are relief. It is inconceivable that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which has extended aid to nearly 600 institutions and is manifestly but a temporary device, can go on indefinitely.

Today a matter of satisfaction is that the rate of bank failures, of hoarding, and the demands upon the Reconstruction Finance Corporation have greatly lessened. The acute phases of the crisis have obviously passed and the time has now come when this national danger and this failure to respond to national necessities must be ended and the measures to end them can be safely undertaken. Methods of reform have been exhaustively examined. There is no reason now why solution should not be found at the present session of the Congress or at the next session.

At the last session the Congress responded to my request for authority to reorganize the Government departments. The act provides for the grouping and consolidation of executive and administrative agencies according to major purposes, and thereby reducing the number of overlap and duplication of effort. Executive orders issued for these purposes are required to be transmitted to the Congress within a session and do not become effective until after the expiration of 60 calendar days after such transmission, unless the Congress shall sooner approve.

I shall issue such executive orders within a few days grouping or consolidating over 50 executive and administrative agencies, including a large number of commissions and "independent" agencies.

The second step, of course, remains that after these various bureau and agency groupings are placed by law into such groups, the administrative officers in charge of the groups shall eliminate their overlapping and still further consolidate these activities. Therein lie large economies.

The Congress must be warned that a host of interested persons inside and outside the Government whose version is concentrated on some particular function will at once protest against these proposals. These same sorts of activities have prevented reorganization of the Government for over a quarter of a century. They must be disregarded if the task is to be accomplished.

Banking.

The basis of every other and every further effort toward recovery is to reorganize at once our banking system. The shock to the economic system have undoubtedly multiplied by the weakness of our financial system. I first called attention of the Congress in 1929 to the condition, and have since then recommended remedy since that time. The subject has been exhaustively investigated both by the committees of the Congress and the officers of the Federal Reserve System.

The banking and financial system is presumed to serve in furnishing the essential lubricant to the wheels of industry, agriculture and commerce. It is the diversion from proper use, its improper use, or its insufficiency in properly brings hardship and dislocation in economic life. As a system our banking has failed to meet the conditions of the emergency. It can be said without question of doubt that our losses and distress have been greatly augmented by its wholly inadequate organization. Its inability as a system to respond to our needs is today a constant drain upon progress toward recovery. In this statement I am not referring to individual banks or bankers. The condition of the banking system as a whole is one of distinguished courage and ability. On the contrary, I am referring to the system itself, which is so organized, or so lacking in organization, that in an emergency its very mechanism jeopardizes or paralyzes the action of sound banks and its instability is responsible for periodic dangers to our whole economic system.

I shall issue such executive orders within a few days grouping or consolidating over 50 executive and administrative agencies, including a large number of commissions and "independent" agencies.

The second step, of course, remains that after these various bureau and agency groupings are placed by law into such groups, the administrative officers in charge of past two years find their origins in the shocks from economic collapse abroad which in turn are the aftermath of the Great War. If we are to secure rapid and assured recovery and protection for the future we must co-operate with foreign nations in many measures.

We have actively engaged in a world disarmament conference where, with success, we should reduce our own tax burdens and the tax burdens of other major nations. We should increase political stability of the world. We should lessen the danger of war by increasing defensive powers and decreasing offensive powers of nations. We would thus open new vistas of economic expansion for the world. We are participating in the formulation of a world economic conference, successful results from which would contribute much to advance in agricultural prices, employment and business. Currency depreciation has been a contributing factor in price levels. Moreover, from these origins rise most of the destructive trade barriers now stifling the commerce of the world. We could by successful action increase security and expand trade through stability in international exchange and monetary values. By such action world confidence could be restored. It would bring courage and stability, which will deflect into every home in our land.

The European governments, obligated to us in war debts, have requested that there should be suspension of payments due the United States on Dec. 15, next, to be accomplished by exchange of views upon this debt question. Our Government has informed them that we do not approve of suspension of the Dec. 15 payments. I have stated that I would recommend to the Congress methods to overcome temporary exchange difficulties in connection with this payment from nations where it may be necessary.

I have placed various legislative needs before the Congress in previous messages, and these views require no amplification on this occasion. I have urged the need for reform in our transportation and power regulation, in the anti-trust laws as applied to our national resource industries, Western range conservation, extension of Federal aid to child-health services, membership in the World Court, the ratification of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway treaty, revision of the bankruptcy acts, revision of Federal Court procedure, and many other pressing problems.

These and other special subjects I shall where necessary deal with by special communications to the Congress.

The welfare of our people is dependent upon successful issue of the great causes of world peace, world disarmament, and organized world recovery. Nor is it too much to say that today as never before the welfare of mankind and the preservation of civilization depend upon our solution of these questions. Such solutions can not be attained except by honest friendship, by adherence to agreements entered upon until mutually revised, and by co-operation among nations in a determination to find solutions which will be mutually beneficial.

Other Legislation.

I have urged the need for reform in our transportation and power regulation, in the anti-trust laws as applied to our national resource industries, Western range conservation, extension of Federal aid to child-health services, membership in the World Court, the ratification of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway treaty, revision of the bankruptcy acts, revision of Federal Court procedure, and many other pressing problems.

Such solutions can not be attained except by honest friendship, by adherence to agreements entered upon until mutually revised, and by co-operation among nations in a determination to find solutions which will be mutually beneficial.

Conclusion.

It seems to be appropriate upon this occasion to make certain general observations upon the principles which must dominate the solution of problems now pressing upon the nation. Legislation in response to national needs will be effective only if every such act conform to a complete philosophy of the people's purposes and destiny. Ours is a distinctive Government with a unique history and background, consciously dedicated to a faith in the inviolable sanctity of the individual human spirit. Furthermore, the continued existence and adequate functioning of our Government in preservation of ordered liberty and stimulation of progress depends upon the maintenance of state, local, institutional and individual sense of responsibility. We have built a system of individualism peculiarly our own which must not be forgotten in any governmental acts, for from it have grown greater accomplishments than those of any other nation.

On the social and economic side, the background of our American system and the motivation of progress is essentially that we should allow free play of social and economic forces as far as will not limit equality of opportunity and as will at the same time stimulate the initiative and enterprise of our people. In the maintenance of this balance the Federal Government can permit of no privilege to any person or group. It should act as a regulatory agent and not as a participant in economic and social life. The moment the Government participates, it becomes a competitor with the people. As a competitor it becomes at once a tyranny in whatever direction it may touch. We have around us numerous such experiences, no one of which can be found to have justified itself except in cases where the people as a whole have met forces beyond their control, such as those of the great war and this great depression, where the full powers of the Federal Government must be exerted to protect the people. But even these must be limited to an emergency sense and must be promptly ended when these dangers are overcome.

With the free development of science and the consequent multitude of inventions, some of which are absolutely revolutionary in our national life, the Government must not only stimulate the social and economic responsibility of individuals and private institutions, but it must also give leadership to co-operative action among the people which will soften the effect of these revolutions and thus secure social transformations in an orderly manner. The highest form of self-government is the voluntary co-operation within our people for such purposes.

But I would emphasize again that social and economic solutions, as such, will not avail to satisfy the aspirations of the people unless they conform with the traditions of our race, deeply grooved in their sentiments through a century and a half of struggle for ideals of life that are rooted in religion and fed from purely spiritual springs.

Can You Identify These Pictures?

These are the first two pictures in the first proverb competition. They illustrate two proverbs which are included in the list below. Can you pick the proverbs which fit these pictures?

A wise son maketh a glad father. A drowning man will catch at a rush. Put not your trust in princes. Never look a gift horse in the mouth. It's an ill wind that blows nobody good. A soft answer turneth away wrath. All's well that ends well. Dead men tell no tales. And a little child shall lead them. Rain at seven, fine at eleven. The wrath of transgressors is hard. Necessity is the mother of invention.

DESTROYER UPSET BY MONSOON, 104 JAPANESE MISSING

Crew of Sawarabi Thought Trapped Below Hatches When Wind Hits Craft Off Formosa Islands.

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, Dec. 6.—The Japanese destroyer Sawarabi drifted upside down in the East China Sea today, with 104 of its crew probably dead, victims of the treacherous monsoon that blows off the coast of Asia.

The phenomena known as the burst of the monsoon, or sudden seasonal change in the usually steady wind, struck the Sawarabi and three sister ships 100 miles off Formosa Island Monday afternoon. Darkness descended on the destroyers in the midst of the storm, and the sister ships—the Sanyu, the Kurake and the Wakatake—lost sight of the Sawarabi as she was tossed helplessly about in the sea. The three stood by the Sawarabi, and as soon as conditions cleared today, picked up 16 survivors from the sea, one of whom later died of his injuries. The skipper, Lieutenant-Commander Kengo Kadota, went to his death with his ship, as far as the Naval Ministry knew.

Meanwhile the commander of the Mako naval base in the Pescadores, off Formosa, sent a cruiser, four destroyers and an aircraft carrier to the scene.

Most of Dead Thought in Hull.
The Naval Ministry prepared a preliminary report to the Emperor today, and ordered an investigation.

Inside the hull of the Sawarabi, as it bobbed dangerously in the northern entrance of Formosa Strait, were believed to be most of the corpses of the officers and men who manned her when she left the Kure naval base in the main island group of Japan Saturday.

This was the guess of the Ministry, which learned the 16 rescued were on deck when the storm struck. A few might have been washed overboard and drowned, but it was believed most were below the hatches, which were battened down against the storm. Thus they would either have drowned or suffocated. Small hopes were held that any more of the crew would be picked up alive.

The Sawarabi was a 320-ton craft with a speed of 31½ knots. She was completed in 1923.

Ships Sent to Scene.
About 12 craft either were at the scene of the disaster or on the way today. The exact location of the wreck was placed at 122 East Longitude and 27 North Latitude.

Besides the vessels from the Mako and Sasebo naval bases, the Kure naval base ordered the destroyer Shikishima and the special service ship Asahi to the scene. The Asahi is fitted with special grappling apparatus usually employed over sunken submarines.

High naval officers studied reports of the disaster as the day wore on and were gradually evolving a theory as to why the sister ships suffered comparatively little distress while the Sawarabi itself got into difficulties shortly after the storm struck. Some were of the belief that the vessel had developed structural defects or a "faulty condition" of some other nature.

Reports indicated the Sawarabi was plunging head-on into the waves. It was believed possible water had poured in through the funnels and deluged the engine rooms. This would have rendered the craft helpless.

FOR GASOLINE TAX REFUND
North St. Louis Business Men Want Law Changed.
A change in State law to provide for refund to St. Louis and other Missouri municipalities of a portion of the State gasoline tax and motor license fees collected in them is being advocated by the North St. Louis Business Men's Association. A committee of the association has sent resolution forms to various organizations throughout the State, asking to have the legislation adopted and sent to members of the Legislature.

Refund of about 25 per cent of the fees and tax collected in each city is suggested by the committee. It believes that the law might be changed to abolish existing municipal gasoline taxes and motor licenses, with corresponding increases in the State charges. The proposed refund to the towns would be for construction of streets.

MISSOURI AUTO FATALITIES
73 Persons Killed in October; 750 Injured.
JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 6.—Highway accidents took 72 lives in October, the monthly accident report of the State Highway Department says. Thirty-seven persons were killed instantly and 25 died later of injuries. During the month there were 609 accidents, resulting in injury to 750 persons.

$45,000 in Bogus Money Seized.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—John Molnar, 35 years old, was held in $15,000 bond last night after arraignment on charges of counterfeiting before United States Commissioner Edwin

K. Walker. Molnar was arrested Saturday after his brother, Edward, confessed in Omaha, Neb., authorities said, participating in an extensive counterfeiting plot. Important dietetic values of several great health foods found combined in a single fruit

...PINEAPPLE CANNED

You drink orange juice or tomato juice because, in addition to other qualities, they supply vitamins and alkali to the blood. You eat prunes and raisins for iron.

You eat butter for its high vitamin A content which, authorities tell us, maintains the general resistance of the body against infections, particularly of the nose, throat and upper respiratory tract.

Now nutritional research shows that substantial amounts of these important dietetic values, together with others unknown in other fruits, are combined in a single delicious fruit—Canned Pineapple.

Indeed, there is known today no other fruit that can match Canned Pineapple in the number of essential things it does for human health and well-being.

At the right are listed some of the hitherto unappreciated dietetic values of this delicious fruit. And, as you read them, consider this fact, soundly established by tests on human beings:

Two slices of Canned Pineapple or their equivalent in a Pineapple Cup of crushed or tidbits, eaten every day, exert a greater variety of health promoting effects than any single fruit known.

If you miss it at home for breakfast, get it for lunch or dinner. Hotels, restaurants, dining cars are serving both the Pineapple Cup and the slices.

Educational Committee, Pineapple Producers Cooperative Association, Ltd., 100 Bush Street, San Francisco, California.

New Discoveries About CANNED PINEAPPLE

Remember that these statements are made only about Canned Pineapple. The temperatures applied in canning cause a beneficial change of dietetic importance.

Generous source of vitamins A, B and C.

Valuable as an aid in preventing nutritional anemia.

Through its antiketogenic and alkalinizing effects, helps to maintain the normal alkalinity of the blood and to correct acidosis.

The only fruit known to act as an aid to kidney function, by stimulating kidneys to eliminate waste matter from the blood.

These statements are based upon the special study of pineapple as contrasted with all reported research on the effect of fruits and fruit juices upon the human system.

STOCK PROMOTERS CONVICTED; PUBLIC PUT IN $1,800,000

Representative Rainey One of Witnesses Against Lynn E. Wolfe and Murray H. Olf in New York.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Lynn E. Wolfe of Birmingham, Ala., against whom Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, Democratic floor leader, testified Nov. 25, was convicted last night of using the mails to defraud and of conspiracy in connection with the sale of stock in Southern Cities Supply Corporation, of which he was president. Wolfe, formerly a well-known New York accountant, was convicted on all 11 counts of his indictment. Federal Judge Alfred E. Cox continued his bail of $4000 until Thursday, when sentence will be imposed.

Murray H. Olf, stock sales promoter, indicted with Wolfe, was convicted on three counts of using the mails to defraud. The jury disagreed as to a fourth count of conspiracy. Olf's bail also was continued until Thursday.

Wolfe and Olf were tried once before. The first trial lasted from last Sept. 6 to Oct. 8, and ended in a disagreement of the jury. The second trial started Nov. 14.

Representative Rainey, testifying for the first time at the present trial, declared he had invested $7500 in Southern Cities Supply stock. Correspondence between him and Wolfe was read into the records.

John S. Pratt of Toledo, O., Special Assistant Attorney-General, conducted the prosecution. He charged that $1,800,000 had been obtained from investors through unorthodox methods. The corporation owns shale lands and brick kilns near Birmingham.

'NO FURTHER CUTS,' SAYS GREEN Advises Elevator Operators to 'Strike if Necessary.'

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, told 1500 elevator operators here that the time has come when organized labor must accept no further wage cuts. Applause greeted the labor leader when he urged the elevator men to "strike, if necessary" if "your employers insist on lowering your wages." The operators are resisting a 15 per cent cut in their basic scale of $29 a week on the grounds they took a voluntary 10 per cent reduction eight months ago. Green addressed them at a meeting in a Loop theater last night.

"MOIST THROAT" AIDS COUGH RELIEF

Your throat and bronchial tubes are lined with millions of pores like tiny bottles continually supplying moisture to the delicate tissues... until you "catch cold."

Then these "bottles" get plugged up, phlegm accumulates, affording dangerous germs a breeding place. Your throat feels hot and dry. Tickling, irritation and coughing set in.

Your cough will be cured only when the flow of the natural fluid is increased, loosening the phlegm so that it can be expelled. Many cough "remedies" contain numbing drugs which merely deaden the nerves... but don't get at the root of the trouble.

Pertussin, a scientific remedy, which doctors have prescribed for many years, is the extract of a famous herb which opens the tiny glands, stimulates the flow of the throat's natural moisture and brings quick relief. It helps nature heal that awful cough from the inside out.

When you feel that warning dryness take a few spoons of Pertussin. It's absolutely safe. Sold at all drug stores, 60¢.

ST. CHARLES TO VOTE JAN. 5. ON POWER PLANT BOND ISSUE

City Council Calls Special Election on Construction of Municipal System.

An ordinance calling for a special election on Jan. 5 to vote on a $300,000 bond issue for the construction of the proposed municipal electric and power plant was passed last night by the City Council of St. Charles. The measure passed by a 6 to 2 vote.

The present 20-year franchise of the Union Electric Light & Power Co. expires on Feb. 25. The company offered a new franchise last night under which the city could purchase its plant at any five-year period. It also offered to lower the rates, asserting residents would save about $12,000 annually. The Council filed the proposal until after the election.

In passing the ordinance for the election the Council mentioned that the city's indebtedness was now only $59,000 and the new bond issue would not exceed the constitutional limits.

Bottled Sunshine builds them!

So satisfying for a mother to know that her baby is developing strong, straight bones and sound, even, uncrowded teeth! They are vital to his appearance, his health and happiness all through life.

But to build them, babies must have an abundance of one essential factor—Vitamin D!

This may be obtained in two ways—from outdoor sunshine and from Bottled Sun! Inc.

Outdoor sunshine, alone, might furnish enough if it could shine directly on babies' bare skin. At this time of year, however, clouds, smoke, clothing, ordinary window glass prevent.

Babies need Bottled Sunshine

—good cod-liver oil. It is the richest natural source of the "bones-and-teeth" factor—vitamin D!

In addition to Vitamin D, good cod-liver oil supplies Vitamin A—the factor which promotes growth and builds up babies' resistance.

And the best cod-liver oil is the least expensive because it supplies the most Vitamin A and Vitamin D. Inferior brands should be given in so much larger doses.

Many mothers know this and ask for a cod-liver oil guaranteed to be rich in both factors—Squibb Cod-Liver Oil Squibb's is the kind many doctors recommend. Ask for it at any reliable drug store. It comes Plain or Mint-Flavored.

KADOKA'S FORCES WAIT ON WEATHER

Advance Held Up East of Hailar—Main Body to Move When Khingan Tunnel Is Repaired.

By the Associated Press.
KADOKA, Manchuria, Dec. 6.—Chinese General Su Ping-wen, leader of the Tseang Army, fled from his headquarters at Hailar, 100 miles east of Chita, Siberia, at the same time it was announced that the Japanese advance had been halted.

The Japanese said Gen. Su, who controlled about one-fourth of Manchuria for several months, left Hailar by train Sunday. Russian authorities at Yakeshi, under date of Chita, Siberia, said Gen. Su and his men had appeared there and were disarmed by Russian authorities.

Moscow dispatches said the Chinese General's train was halted at the border, but proceeded to Chita where all of the Chinese were interned.

The Japanese said they had received a radio message from Gen. Su to Gen. Chiang Haueh-shan, former Manchurian warlord, saying Su had escaped to Siberia and would go to Peiping through the Khingan Mountains was pending and shortly the Japanese all force was expected to be in Hailar.

Headquarters here also said a sum of Mongol cavalrymen affiliated with the Japanese was proceeding to Hailar from Tannu by way of the Khingan Mountains. This was to prevent escape of any of Gen. Su's forces to Jehol, the far western province between China proper and Soviet military authorities were reported to have placed additional troops along the border to prevent any of Gen. Su's forces crossing without being disarmed.

NEW REPORTS Gen. Su and all of his men interned at Chita.

MOSCOW, Dec. 6.—A dispatch from Chita, Siberia, said today that Gen. Su Ping-wen and his staff, before the Japanese advance in Northwest Manchuria, were disarmed and interned when they crossed into Soviet territory.

The message said Gen. Su and his army crossed the border with 45 cars. The train was guarded and searched by a Russian border guard. The Chinese commander applied to the station master for transportation of his troops.

But, he refused, he is said to have insisted to use force. The Chinese soldiers, under orders of their officers, then dispatched the trains on their own initiative. Immediately on arrival at Chita, all soldiers and officers were interned.

NEWTON D. BAKER SUGGESTS
PRIME MINISTER FOR U. S.

His audience at Yale that Government needs Parliamentary Responsibility.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 6.—John D. Baker, Secretary of State in the Wilson Cabinet, suggested a change in government to "parliamentary responsibility" in which, he said, "a Prime Minister would be chosen out of the legislative body," in an address last night at Yale University.

He discussed the foreign debt problem, saying, "our accepted method of the subject of paying back what is borrowed cannot be applied under all economic conditions. There is little recognized leadership in America today," he said. "The political parties have lost touch. I have come quite definitely to the belief that we must have a government so we have something like parliamentary responsibility."

Parliamentary responsibility and the embarrassing question of what to do with our Senate, and possibly our President. A Prime Minister would be chosen out of the legislative body and be responsible to it."

China and Japan Argue Case Of Manchukuo Before League

Nanking Spokesman Demands Return of Seized Territory—Tokio Responds With Plea of Self-Defense.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Dec. 6.—China called on the Assembly of the League of Nations today to denounce Japan as the aggressor in Manchuria, and Japan replied that the military occupation of that vast province was an act of self-defense.

Addressing the Assembly, W. W. Yen spoke for China. He declared Japan had broken "every multilateral treaty that has application to the Manchurian question, trampled upon the most sacred of the principles that govern international relations, and flouted the authority of the League."

Yosuke Matsuoka, the special counsel, spoke for Japan. He challenged the findings of the Lytton commission which investigated Manchurian affairs for the League. "That we acted in self-defense," he said, "is clear and warranted."

Matsuoka protested against the Chinese boycott as a hindrance to the promotion of international peace and co-operation. "Denounces Chinese Boycott," he said, "is clear and warranted."

The Japanese said they had received a radio message from Gen. Su to Gen. Chiang Haueh-shan, former Manchurian warlord, saying Su had escaped to Siberia and would go to Peiping through the Khingan Mountains was pending and shortly the Japanese all force was expected to be in Hailar.

Su's forces to Jehol, the far western province between China proper and Soviet military authorities were reported to have placed additional troops along the border to prevent any of Gen. Su's forces crossing without being disarmed.

NEW REPORTS Gen. Su and all of his men interned at Chita.

MOSCOW, Dec. 6.—A dispatch from Chita, Siberia, said today that Gen. Su Ping-wen and his staff, before the Japanese advance in Northwest Manchuria, were disarmed and interned when they crossed into Soviet territory.

The message said Gen. Su and his army crossed the border with 45 cars. The train was guarded and searched by a Russian border guard. The Chinese commander applied to the station master for transportation of his troops.

But, he refused, he is said to have insisted to use force. The Chinese soldiers, under orders of their officers, then dispatched the trains on their own initiative. Immediately on arrival at Chita, all soldiers and officers were interned.

NEWTON D. BAKER SUGGESTS
PRIME MINISTER FOR U. S.

His audience at Yale that Government needs Parliamentary Responsibility.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 6.—John D. Baker, Secretary of State in the Wilson Cabinet, suggested a change in government to "parliamentary responsibility" in which, he said, "a Prime Minister would be chosen out of the legislative body," in an address last night at Yale University.

He discussed the foreign debt problem, saying, "our accepted method of the subject of paying back what is borrowed cannot be applied under all economic conditions. There is little recognized leadership in America today," he said. "The political parties have lost touch. I have come quite definitely to the belief that we must have a government so we have something like parliamentary responsibility."

Government could not be held responsible for its independence, he said, declaring that, "it is one thing to say that some officials interested themselves in an autonomy movement, and quite another to charge that the Japanese Government is responsible for abetting the independence movement."

Before Manchukuo issued its declaration of independence Japan had no plans in that direction, he said. The first move came from the people and "contrary to the report of the Lytton commission it was definite and emphatic."

Reason for Recognition.
Japan recognized Manchukuo's independence because "we saw in it the advent of a civil government composed of reasonable men who understood the strategic and economic importance of the territory to Japan. We saw a promise of peace. We wanted peace. We did not and do not want Manchuria. We want only the preservation of our rights and interests there."

He urged that the League give time for the natural development of "sound forces" in Manchuria, and declared that any suggestion for settlement of the dispute should be governed by these three principles: "1. The terms must be such that they can be effectively put into operation and will accomplish and preserve peace in the Far East. 2. A way must be found to end disorder in China. 3. If the League evolves a plan of settlement the League must take upon itself the responsibility for execution of the plan."

"Considering the actual conditions in China," he warned, "that execution is likely to be costly and the League should have both the will and the means to make necessary sacrifices. Is any member of the League ready to participate with others in such an undertaking?"

JAPANESE PLAN FOR PEACE IN ORIENT

(Copyright, 1932.)
GENEVA, Dec. 6.—Yosuke Matsuoka, Japanese delegate, disclosed today a far-reaching plan for the establishment of peace in the Far East.

In an interview, he declared that on his way back to Japan from Geneva via the United States he wished to discuss the plan with President-elect Roosevelt.

"There are three real powers on the Pacific Ocean," he said. "These are the United States, Russia and Japan. They are the ones who must make peace in the Orient. We need to establish mutual confidence to satisfy one another's economic needs."

Such action would dispel the dread of a war on the Pacific, which is sometimes felt, he said.

Matsuoka said when he passed through Moscow, that the Japanese Government had agreed to the Lytton report, pending dissolution of Manchukuo, pledge itself not to recognize any situation, treaty or agreement, which may be brought about by means contrary to the covenant of the League of Nations, and declare it will not recognize Manchukuo or enter into any relations with it; that the Assembly make and publish before a definite date and within the shortest possible time, a report for final settlement of the dispute as prescribed in Article 15, paragraph four, of the Covenant (Article 15 provides for the arbitration of disputes).

Contradicts Lytton Report.
Matsuoka missed none of the arguments which have become familiar in this long dispute. The real cause of the trouble in the East, he said, was "a lack of cohesion between the realities in China and the aspirations of the modern Chinese," and the cure for that was assistance to China by the League in the logical progress, particularly in the stabilization of China's foreign relations.

As for Manchukuo, the Japanese Government declared he found the Soviet officials eager for a non-aggression pact with Japan and that he in turn wished settlement of the recognition problem and all other questions.

Matsuoka added he thought the time now right for consolidating peace with Russia and making that peace more complete by also reaching an agreement with the United States.

OPENS REICHSTAG WITH ATTACK ON VON HINDENBURG

Gen. Litzmann, 82, Nazi, Declares Bolshevism Menaces Nation—Cheered and Boomed.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Dec. 6.—Gen. Karl Litzmann, 82-year-old Nazi, opened the new Reichstag this afternoon with a tirade against President von Hindenburg, shouting that history may curse him for driving the country into Bolshevism.

"Hindenburg became the savior of Germany in November, 1918, with the assistance of Litzmann's brigade of infantry at Luden," he cried. "That battle brought him a Field Marshal's baton. Today something more important than a baton is at stake."

"For Hindenburg it is a question of escaping the curse which history may lay upon him for having driven the German people into despair and delivering the country to Bolshevism."

When he referred to Adolf Hitler as the greatest living German and the only man who could save the nation, the National Socialist members cheered and the Communists booed. The old General, elected because of the custom which tends to the oldest member the privilege of becoming Speaker pro tem, wore all his war decorations.

Chancellor von Schleicher, who assumed that office yesterday, was present for the opening, a decree of dissolution ready for use if he needed it.

The Reichstag re-elected Hermann Wilhelm Goering, one of Hitler's chief lieutenants, as Speaker.

SAME DUTY ON SUGAR SYRUP
AS ON SUGAR IS UPHOLD

Action of U. S. Customs Court to Affect About $120,000,000 in Duties.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The Customs Court yesterday was upheld by the United States Court of Customs in its assessment of the same duty on sugar syrup as on sugar.

Although taken in a relatively minor case, the United States Court yesterday will affect about $120,000,000 in sugar duties collected by the government in normal times and prevent sugar importers from making syrup of sugar in foreign countries and bringing it into the United States as syrup at a duty of one-fourth cent a gallon.

The controversy between the importers and the United States has been more than two years ago when large sugar companies had constructed tank ships which would be loaded with sugar mixed with water and formaldehyde as a preservative and shipped into the United States as syrup. The duty on syrup was one-fourth cent a gallon, while the duty on sugar is one and three-fourths cents and a pound, depending on polar scope content.

The case decided yesterday was in the nature of a test case, brought by the Savannah Sugar Refining Corporation. It sought to overthrow a ruling of the bureau holding the syrup must be rated as sugar. The Court of Customs and Patent Appeals affirmed the decision of the Customs Court in New York which found in favor of the bureau.

ASSOCIATES THINK ROOSEVELT FAVORS SPECIAL SESSION

Farm Relief and Budget Said to Be Main Points of Program—Beer Under Second Item.

By the Associated Press.
WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Dec. 6.—In view of the vote of the House yesterday against the resolution to repeal the eighteenth amendment, some of those who have been close to President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt during the conference he has held here regard a special session of Congress early in his administration as a strong possibility.

While expressing the view that farm relief and budget legislation were the main points of the legislative program on which they thought Gov. Roosevelt would insist, they said legislation to legalize beer would fit into the second category.

Word of the House action on the repeal resolution reached Gov. Roosevelt shortly before he started on a visit to his farm near Warm Springs. He declined to comment. At the farm he saw the thoroughbred cattle he has been attempting to mix with the common strain paraded before him by his plantation manager. After a short stay he returned to his cottage here.

Meanwhile plans were completed for the President-elect's departure for New York and Albany late this afternoon. Among the few callers before the President-elect leaves was Senator Bratton of New Mexico, a Democrat who followed closely behind Senator Cutting of the same State, and Mrs. Frey, and then the train will go on to Jersey City.

Yesterday brought Gov. Roosevelt numerous visitors from Georgia and other States. Among the first was Gov. Harry Woodring of Kansas and Guy T. Helvering, National Committeeman for that State. They discussed agricultural subjects.

OUTLAWRY IN PERSIA OIL AREA
Travelers Told of Robberies, Even Murders on Roads.

By the Associated Press.
BAGDAD, Iraq, Dec. 6.—Reports of serious lawlessness in the area surrounding the properties of the Anglo-Persian Oil Co. are being received here every day by travelers from Southern Persia.

They say that bandits are active in that region but that more menacing criminals, including murderers, have been encountered on the roads. It is unsafe now, they report, to cross the mountains from Isfahan to Dibrul, a distance of 185 miles, over a route which formerly was a main traffic artery from east to west.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY EARNS 7 PCT. ON $10,900,000

This Sum Compares With $43,000,000 Suggested by Security Holders as Sale Price to City.

A new measure of the earning power of the Public Service Co., operating the street cars and yellow buses, is afforded by operating reports recently filed by the company with the Public Service Commission at Jefferson City in connection with an application for continuation of present fares.

On the basis of these reports, the company's return from the operation of transportation service will amount to about $763,133 for the year 1932. This is a 7 per cent return on about $10,900,000.

The figures are pertinent in view of the consideration given by the city's Joint Transportation Committee to the possible acquisition of parts of the company's property for inclusion in a municipal transit system. The Board of Aldermen in adopting a report of a special committee and creating the present Joint Committee gave approval to the principle of a municipally owned system. The present committee was given the job of working out a practicable plan. It has before it a report of a sub-committee stating that acquisition of existing transit facilities should be considered only on the basis of earning power for transportation purposes.

The company's total operating revenue in the first 10 months of this year was $10,921,446. Operating expense, exclusive of taxes and depreciation, was $7,926,935. The amount set up for taxes was $1,074,822 and for depreciation, $1,283,817. Deducting operating expenses, taxes and depreciation from the total operating revenue leaves $635,962, which is the return for the 10 months.

If the business should continue on the same basis for the last two months of the year, the return for the year would be $763,133. Capitalizing this return at 7 per cent gives a valuation of $10,900,000. This compares with a valuation of $63,000,000 allowed by the Public Service Commission when it fixed the present basis of fares, which it was calculated would give the company a return of 7 1/4 per cent.

The company's return for this year has dropped sharply from that of last year, when it earned $1,703,728. The 1931 earnings, capitalized at 7 per cent, amounted to a return on a valuation of $24,388,900.

A subcommittee of the Joint Transportation Committee recently reported that the city should consider paying more than $25,000,000 for the street car and bus properties, but the Joint Committee last week voted to discard the figure, as it was not sure the properties were worth anything like that amount.

In the recent tax assessment valuation of the company's property by the State Board of Equalization, its buses were valued at less than four-tenths of 1 per cent of the total property.

A committee representing the security holders of the company recently proposed a tentative plan for sale to the city at a price of about $43,000,000. This was rejected last week.

The company's return of $635,962 for the 10 months does not include non-operating income of $36,438. It is calculated, also, before payment of interest on borrowed capital. Setting up interest requirements and other debit items totaling $1,398,841, the company shows a deficit of $726,443 instead of net income.

U. S. ARMS PLAN NOT ACCEPTABLE, GERMANS ASSERT

Delegates to Geneva Conference Indicate They Will Oppose Proposals in Their Present Form.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Switzerland, Dec. 6.—Proposals offered by the American delegation to the world disarmament conference are in their present form not acceptable to Germany, German delegates indicated shortly after statements from five leading nations resumed their conversations this afternoon.

The Davis plan, as it is known, taking its name from Norman Davis, the American delegate to the world disarmament conference, is based on the "necessity for immediate action."

The American idea is to conclude a convention dealing exclusively with disarmament. It would seal down arms immediately and provide a permanent commission to work out other details.

The conversations among the five Powers began in the hotel room of Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain. Present also were Davis, Baron Konstantin von Neurath, Foreign Minister of Germany, Premier Edouard Herriot of France and Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy, a vice-president of the League Assembly.

The conversations followed an informal meeting last night, and were begun early in order that a recess could be taken to permit the participants to attend the special session of the League Assembly considering the Chinese-Japanese dispute over Manchuria.

The conference lasted an hour and a quarter. The principal subject was that of handing Baron von Neurath a brief resume of Davis' views on provisional solution of the armament problem. Baron von Neurath thanked Davis and asked time to study the document and communicate with Berlin. This was agreed to.

The conversations were interrupted to allow those present to go to the assembly. Four of them went as delegates, while Davis went as a spectator. The talks on disarmament were resumed later in the day.

After the meeting Premier Herriot restated the French position on the disarmament problem, which makes recognition of Germany's demand for equality in law conditional on guarantees of security.

"The more security that is assured," Herriot said, "means the more equality that can be recognized."

Asked if the conversations were tending toward a solution of the difficulty, the Premier said: "Oh, no. It is too early to say that."

Our Wandering Army of Boys.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Of these depression years, few (if indeed any) loom more ominously on the horizon than the growing army of homeless boys, who, without jobs and without supporting families, are wandering over the country keeping themselves alive by whatever means the law of self-preservation may prescribe. In a public statement, Newton D. Baker estimated their number at 200,000. Confidential conversations of this figure by dependable persons closely associated with relief work make the number 400,000. That the number is increasing from day to day no one seems to doubt.

Left to themselves for some months, these are destined to become the American version of the "wild children" of the Russian revolutionary period. When the peace in Russia made it possible for the Government to inaugurate a constructive program, many of the children who had been forced into vagabondage had become so habituated to the new life as to be irretrievable. It is conceivable that we Americans are still so lacking in the sense of social solidarity ("brotherhood," if you prefer) that we will stand by and mark time while this horror is re-enacted.

First of all is needed a survey of the families in the community in order that steps may be taken to prevent the forced "release" of other boys. Secondly, the situation calls for a radical change in police methods. To order these boys to move along may be the easiest way for the police department, but it solves nothing. What is needed, if a solution is to be found for this problem, is a return of the boys to the country or city from which they set out. Thirdly, in the home community enough aid must be given to the family to enable it to support the boys in their homes. If the boys are without homes, camps or residences of some sort must be provided. Fourthly, every one of these boys is entitled to a place in the educational scheme. With so many teachers unemployed, simple community, camp or residence schools could be organized at little expense.

Here is a serious situation in which even a modicum of rational and timely action will prevent many years of harrowing struggle with belated cures and incurables.

Miss Robinson's Articles.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
YOUR editorial about Miss Robinson attracted my attention and interest. I had not paid a whole lot of attention to Miss Robinson's articles, so I got last Saturday's edition and read her essay, "Love Is as Wide as Life." I must say she is well worth reading. The essay ended with these lines:

"Every child was mine."
They reminded me of the immortal words of the rebellious stammerer, "All men are my brothers, the world is my home."

Let us hope that the trend of mankind is away from the Darwinianistic scholastic facts of life (I mean in the parasitic form) toward a more humane existence for the masses. Writers like Miss Robinson can do much in this field.

Against Federal Control of Liquor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
It was very commendable of Dr. Folger to state that the drys would not attempt to block the repeal amendment by concentrating their force in 13 states. In other words, if the great majority of the American people desire a change in prohibition laws, he is perfectly willing to let them have it. However, I do not agree with his statement that the abolition of the saloon should be written into the Federal Constitution.

In this vast country of ours it is impossible to regulate the personal habits by centralized authority. The habits and the life of the people in Kansas are entirely different from the people in Boston, and no central law could quite control these two factions. Because of this fact, the prohibition amendment should never have been put into the Constitution, and this is why it has never been enforced.

Therefore, the best thing for this country would be to get the amendment out of the Constitution and only regulate the interstate transportation of liquor, which should be the only function of the Federal Government in respect to this problem. The various states can well take care of their own liquor problem. If Kansas wants to remain dry and Missouri wants to have a central control system and New York City wants saloons, it is perfectly proper for them to have what they want, and there should be no interference of Federal Government.

RICHARD ADDISON.

THE LAME DUCKS WIN.

Lacking six votes of a two-thirds majority, the Garner resolution to repeal the eighteenth amendment has failed in the House. Though it was opposed by 33 renegade Democrats elected last month on the Chicago platform, it was beaten by the lame ducks, who cast 81 votes against it. Reputedly by the people at the polls, they have in turn repudiated the mandate of the people in the lame duck session.

Seventeen states of the Union have adopted the Norris amendment to do away with the lame duck session of Congress. The action of the House yesterday is a sufficient commentary upon this political evil. It should speed adoption of the Norris amendment.

The lame duck session is a denial of democracy, an anachronism which has no place in the public affairs of a free people. It has deprived them of the greatest of all political expedients, to get needed things done quickly. That it could operate to defy the will of the people as it did in the House yesterday is a sufficient indictment of it as a dead hand, a compelling reason why the people should ask deliverance from it.

It is unlikely now that there will be any action on prohibition before the new Congress convenes. The old Congress has had its chance and failed. There is no certainty that it will repeat. It has neither the honesty nor the hardihood of such prohibition leaders as Dr. Daniel A. Poling, chairman of the Allied Forces for Prohibition, who believes it repugnant to American institutions that a small segment of the people should ever thwart the will of the many.

That six men could stand between the House and adoption of the repeal resolution is abominable. There is no warrant for it in any of the election returns of a month ago. It has enormously complicated an action which might have been straight-out and above-board, a clear acceptance of a popular mandate. The thing to do is to reconsider, but the House has not yet consented to reconsider.

The 81 lame ducks who voted against the resolution have violated the greatest of all obligations upon the representatives of the people in Congress by resorting to subterfuge and avoidance in a movement which had the approval of 46 of the 48 states in the latest Literary Digest poll, in which wet majorities were elected in November to both the House and Senate, and in which even North Carolina, one of the two dissenting states in the Digest poll, elected a Democratic opponent of prohibition to the Senate.

The action of the lame duck House, if yesterday's vote on the resolution was final, makes imperative a special session of the new Congress in March, a needless expense at a time when the country is crying for economy. It is unfortunate that the obduracy of a disgruntled and repudiated minority should resort to constitutional trickery in disobedience of the country's wish.

The action of this little group of lame ducks, if persisted in, would make it impossible for the repeal resolution to go before the Legislatures of 41 states meeting in January. It will delay perhaps for two years repeal of the eighteenth amendment, return of the liquor issue to the states, the regeneration of American politics, and restoration of revenues of which the nation and almost every community in it is in terrible need.

The most immediate promise of the greatest and most widespread revolt we have ever had at the polls has been defeated by men who already stand discredited from public confidence.

The lame duck session is a disgrace to American democracy. Ironically enough, it has crowned a long career of evil by one good deed—

It has signed its own death warrant.

A START.

Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks, tired of idle talk about widening Third street, has done something about it. Following a trip to Washington, where he consulted Treasury officials, he will ask Congressmen Cochran to introduce a bill to let the old Custom House to the city. Acquisition of the site on which this old building stands is a necessary preliminary to the project, and the extraordinary method of obtaining legislative consent is occasioned by the fact that Government property cannot be condemned in the usual way. Director Brooks will also recommend a condemnation ordinance for the widening.

Unless something is done soon to make Third street usable as a main artery, we shall have the absurd spectacle of downtown St. Louis surrounded on three sides by wide boulevards such as modern traffic demands, and the fourth side almost as primitively impassable as it was when Chouteau landed here. Meantime, the deterioration of lower downtown property values, affecting the prosperity of the whole city, will continue. But it is hardly necessary to labor the point that Third street widening is desirable. Anyone with the slightest knowledge of the downtown street plan is fully cognizant of it.

What we need to do now is to cut through lethargy and red tape and get the job done. Director Brooks has made a good start, and should have the full cooperation of the Board of Public Service, the Board of Aldermen and downtown property-owners.

MEDICAL FACILITIES FOR ALL.

The report of the Commission on Medical Education, just issued, adds evidence and confirmation to that of the Committee on the Costs of Medical Care, which appeared last week. The former body, formed in 1925 by the Association of Medical Colleges, reports a paradox: a surplus of physicians in the country as a whole, and a lack of them in remote communities. The report recommends paying salaries to physicians in those districts, to make it possible for them to earn a living there, just as the earlier report had said:

Such rural areas, or those of low economic resources, where suitable medical service is not now obtainable at a reasonable cost, should subsidize physicians, or employ salaried physicians to furnish general medical service to residents of the area.

The attractions that concentrate physicians too heavily in the cities are obvious. The comforts of life are centered there, and greater opportunity exists to build up a lucrative practice. Yet it is in country communities and poorer districts that the crying need for medical service now exists. The sanitation of cities has so improved and medical services there have been so broadened that the country in the last half-century has lost its claim to being the more healthful locality. It is in rural districts that such diseases as trachoma, malaria, typhoid fever, hookworm and pellagra are most commonly found. Yet these districts have been notoriously neglected in the spread of health facilities.

The Committee on Medical Costs said that nearly half the persons in the lower-income group receive no professional medical care whatever. If the surplus of doctors could be so distributed as to reach this group of potential patients, the problem would be solved. In many instances, however, it is the cost of medical care rather than its inaccessibility that creates this condition. As a remedy, this group's proposal for community medical centers is worthy of the closest study. The present methods have failed to reach all in need of medical attention, and evolution to a new system is in progress.

END OF AN ILL-STARRED ADVENTURE.

When the armed forces of the United States leave Nicaragua at the close of this year, it will be the end of an ill-starred adventure. Not more so, perhaps, than the similar adventure we have had in Haiti; but certainly sorry enough to warrant hope that nothing of the sort shall happen again in American history.

The extravagance of government and the plight to which taxpayers have been reduced by public waste have no better example than the case of Nicaragua. The American investment in that country, as of Jan. 1, 1932, was $15,648,700. The cost of maintaining American marines there from 1927 to the end of this year, when they will be withdrawn, is estimated at $4,976,034. This estimate, rendered in response to a request from Congressman Cochran, is over and above what it would have cost to maintain the marines in this country.

Thus, to safeguard a $15,000,000 investment, we have spent in five years some $6,000,000, or two-fifths of the whole investment. If we did all our foreign financing at that ratio, the more than 15 billion dollars which America has invested abroad would cost the taxpayers in excess of a billion a year.

The Nicaraguan adventure reduced dollar diplomacy to an absurdity. We first paid $3,000,000 for the right to build a canal across Nicaragua. When American bankers moved to finance the country's development, we offered this canal right as a reason for sending our armed forces to protect these investments. At one time we lent the Nicaraguan Government $1,000,000 to put down insurrection. We were ourselves the cause of insurrection, and have been ever since, as long ago as 1909, we entered upon the policy of civilizing Nicaragua "with a Krag."

The outcome has been farcical. We were never able to subdue Sandino, who declared that he would fight as long as our armed forces remained on Nicaraguan soil. We undertook to give the country fair elections, and the last one resulted in elevating to the presidency the very man we had for six years kept out of power by force.

The relations between the United States and Nicaragua from this time on ought to be those of two civilized nations. American investors in that country should enjoy the protection of Nicaragua, just as they expect to enjoy the protection of every other country into which they venture. To follow our investments with our armed forces and try to make them good is impracticable. The story of Nicaragua proves it.

We have not the least doubt that Nicaragua will respect our treaty rights, including the right to build a canal across the country when we get ready to do it. We have in the end given ourselves the best possible assurance that Nicaragua will respect our rights by respecting hers.

ILLINOIS AND REPEAL.

It is the unhappy distinction of Illinois to have in the lame-duck session of Congress seven repudiated Representatives who voted against the repeal resolution. This is one more vote than the narrow margin by which the measure was defeated. These Illinois lame ducks are Representatives Adkins, Allen, Chipfield, Hall, Holaday, Morton D. Hull and Yates. But for them, the first step would have been taken toward the removal of prohibition from the Federal Constitution. In the same category are two of Missouri's lame ducks—Representatives Hopkins and Manlove. Illinois and Missouri may well be thankful that these Representatives, or misrepresentatives, as in truth they are, will soon be where they belong—out of office.

DR. EINSTEIN ON THE CARPET.

Some time ago a Mrs. Randolph Frothingham, speaking for the Woman Patriot Corporation, protested the admission to the country of Germany's famous scientist, Dr. Albert Einstein, who, she said, was affiliated with all the communistic organizations extant, was a good deal more dangerous than Comrade Stalin and whose presence was pretty sure to warp the ark of the covenant and might even blow over that admirable pergola.

The State Department, it seems, forwarded Mrs. Frothingham's caveat to our consular agents, one of whom, the official in the Berlin office, was impressed with the gravity of the remonstrance. So when Dr. Einstein applied at the agency for a visa, he was put through the whole consular quiz. Meekly amiable at first, the doctor finally got mad when directly asked, "Are you a communist or an anarchist?" and declined to "answer such silly questions."

The affair is, we should say, the farthest north, south, east and west of something. But just who is entitled to the first prize seems to us debatable. Some will advance the claims of Mrs. Frothingham of the Woman Patriot Corporation. Others will argue for the State Department. Still others will shout a bravo for the consular agent. We make no choice. Here is one of those precious incidents in which, we guess, there is stupidity enough to go all the way around.

A GUESSING SEASON OPENS.

With the nomination of Mr. Hoover to become head of Harvard University after he leaves the White House, the open season on guessing jobs for the next ex-President is officially opened. In the next few months, the public may expect him to be connected by rumor with every non-political position of prominence that becomes open or that may be created. So we hasten to scoop the Washington dispatches with the advance information that somebody will suggest Mr. Hoover for presidency of a large railroad, or merger of railroads, for head of a great insurance company, president of 17 assorted colleges and universities, for radio czar, oil czar and coal czar, for head of a mining syndicate, director of a child health foundation, promoter of an ocean plane service project, for newspaper columnist, magazine editor and so on limitlessly, as imagination dictates. As for Mr. Hoover himself, he said recently that he had not yet decided what he would do after March 4.

Our debtors, anyhow, have given us their notes.

THE LAST MILE.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

The Year of Liquidation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.
FOR all practical purposes, the Roosevelt administration began yesterday. Mr. Roosevelt is not yet in office. His Congress is not yet sworn in. But the actual responsibility, as distinguished from the legal and theoretical, already rests upon the Democrats. What is done and left undone now during this short session will to a very large degree determine the conditions under which the new administration lives and moves and has its being.

It is, therefore, necessary that the Democratic high command should arrive at clear conceptions of the situation it faces. If it does not do this, it will find itself at the mercy of incalculable and unexpected forces, and, like the present administration, it will be compelled to resort to one improvisation after another to meet one emergency after another.

The guiding principle of the present administration has been that the post-war structure of debts and prices was essentially normal and sound, that the depression was a temporary interruption and that recovery consisted in maintaining by artificial means as large a part of the debt structure as possible in the hope that the level of prices would rise again to support it. That principle is no longer credible.

The conclusion is unavoidable that prices cannot be restored to the level of the Coolidge era, even though they might very well rise somewhat from the depths to which they have been driven by depression and panic. If that premise is granted, and it is difficult to see how any other premise can be adopted, the time is at hand when the process of recovery calls for the further readjustment of debts and other fixed charges to prices at something like the pre-war level.

This readjustment has already made some progress in the world. A considerable number of producers, both industrial and agricultural, have already reorganized their affairs to a degree which makes it possible for them to resume profitable enterprise as soon as purchasing power reappears. Certain of the worst maladjustments between nations have been corrected, through the abolition of reparations, by the grinding method of default, by the change in export and import balances between creditor and debtor nations. This progress has already been reflected in a very modest but clear improvement of trade. But the improvement is slow and must remain inadequate, because in large sections of the world economy, the pressure of debts and fixed charges continues to shut off the demand for goods and to devastate the markets.

At home here in the United States, the worst maladjustments remaining are evidently in the region of farm debts, of urban real estate mortgages, of railroad capitalization and of local and Federal Government budgets. Broadly speaking, it may be said that in these four principal sections of our economic system, fixed charges are still largely adapted to a price level very much higher than the one which now exists or than to any level to which it is reasonable to look forward. Liquidation, reorganization and readjustment are necessary and inevitable, and cannot be postponed much longer by artificial means.

Similar conditions exist in many other places at vital points in the world economy. There can be little doubt left that the deepest difficulty of the British economic system is the attempt of labor and capital to sustain fixed charges at a level so high that enterprise is unprofitable, and this difficulty has not yet been corrected by the depreciation of sterling in terms of gold. In Germany, the load of private debt, even after the abolition of reparations, is still oppressive, and a readjustment of this debt is unmistakably indicated as necessary to German recovery. In Central Europe, the condition is the same. In South America, there is no likelihood that the prices of the raw materials produced there can be made to rise to a point where the whole mass of indebtedness, excessive even in boom times, can be preserved. A readjustment, already prophesied by the prices of South American securities, is plainly in prospect.

In this total situation, the war debts are a most conspicuous element. By one means or another, by default or by drastic revision downward, they are about to disappear, and no power on earth can keep them intact much longer.

If this is the true situation, then 1933 is the year of liquidation. The Roosevelt administration will preside over a reduction of debts and fixed charges by which the productive forces of the world will liberate themselves from the accumulated mistakes of the war and the post-war inflation. Unless the Democratic high command appreciates this situation clearly, it will face overwhelming trouble. It will repeat the fundamental mistake which ruined the Hoover administration if it tries to stop the tides and by artificial means to postpone or prevent the great readjustments which are necessary and inevitable.

It must choose, it seems to me, between orderly and disorderly liquidation. The liquidation will take place. But how it is to take place, whether it is to be done consciously, deliberately and confidently, or in confusion, by compulsion and by mere default and collapse, will depend upon the promptness and firmness and the lucidity of conviction with which Mr. Roosevelt takes hold and makes clear to the people what lies ahead of them.

In the beginning, it is a question of the state of mind. If the country is allowed to believe that the necessary liquidation is a disaster, it will be a costly and difficult process. If, on the other hand, the country is taught to understand that revision of fixed charges to a permanently lower price level is the very essence of reconstruction for recovery, it will face the task with hope. The creditors will accept their losses without too much bitterness and resistance.

If the country can be made to welcome the inevitable, then statesmanship can undertake to guide it by establishing the agencies of consultation which an orderly liquidation on so great a scale will require.

Straining at a Gnat

From the Philadelphia Record.

PICTURE a family accustomed to live on $12,000 a year. One son, extravagant, spends $7000 of that amount—although he could get along easily on $4500. Hardly set in. A neighbor comes to announce that he cannot pay the $250 due on a debt.

What would you think of that family common sense if, instead of economizing, reducing the extravagant son's spending to $2500, they wasted all their time worrying about the $250?

The United States is in the position that family. It is accustomed to spend billions of dollars a year on Federal, State and local government. Its most extravagant member, local government, spends one billion dollars of that amount.

Consolidation of outgrown units, elimination of waste and political padding, reducing of local bonded indebtedness at a rate of interest by the Federal Government could easily reduce that seven billion dollar bill to four and a half. If we would add to the billion-dollar out in Federal expenditures a half billion in state budgets, we could save four billion dollars, or 30 per cent of our total government costs.

War debt payments of $280,000,000 represent only a 2 per cent contribution to present Government expenditures. Yet public attention is concentrated on the 2 per cent instead of on the 30 per cent. And the energies needed to effect that saving government are being dissipated in controversy over the war debt.

Hardly a sensible procedure.

Let us look at the problem in another way. In 1929, those 13 billions were paid out of a national income of $48 billion. In 1932, those 13 billions must be paid out of a national income of less than 30 billion. In other words, thanks to a diminished volume of business, government costs are about 22 per cent of the national income this year as compared with about 13 per cent in 1929.

Every economist admits that cancellation of the war debts would stimulate trade, help stabilize the price level, and stop the depreciation of foreign currencies. Wouldn't it be worth our while to pay up that 2 per cent yearly contribution abroad—if we could thereby increase national income from which 30 per cent of those 13 billions must now be paid?

If cancellation produces an increase in national income of only 2 per cent, or $1,000,000, the taxes collected thereon would equal the annual payment of war debts.

WASTE AND EDUCATION.

From the Portland (Me.) Evening News.
THOUSANDS of young people enrolled in American colleges and universities have no business to be there, and waste both themselves and the institutions involved if they withdraw and give up thoughts of getting any more education. This is the statement of Dr. Albert Heckel, dean of men at the University of Missouri, in a recent interview. Any student who has ever bothered to look into the matter will be inclined to agree with him.

That, of course, does not mean that a large education should be withheld from ambitious and deserving youngsters. It does mean that thousands of young stars are in college today simply because they have a notion that it is the correct thing to do. They don't want to be educated; they are, in fact, not successful in an education. They simply clog the system and waste the efforts of the institutions that attend. A sharp drop in college enrollment figures would probably be a very healthy indication.

GUY LOMBARDO TAKES ADVANCE PEEP AT NEW DODGE SIX

New York, N. Y.—Guy Lombardo, personable leader of one of America's most famous dance orchestras, and musical idol of the younger set, decried his latest today for an advance showing of the new Dodge Six.

"It's a hit!" was the enthusiastic comment of the rhythm king afterwards. And since Mr. Lombardo has been responsible for some of the biggest hits in the song world, his statement may be considered prophetic.

"The new Dodge Six will click with everybody who wants a smart, youthful car that is sporty and smooth. And it's so peppy! It has the zip and go of a snappy fox-trot, combined with the gliding ease of a dreamy waltz. It has everything the public wants—good looks, impressive power, flashing speed and brilliant performance. And when you add to that the amazing value represented by this great car you've got a combination that will take the country by storm."

Although details of the new car have not yet been officially released by the Dodge organization, it is known that Dodge is ready to spring a real surprise when the new car is formally presented to the public. According to reports, the new Dodge Six is going to be offered with an astounding array of features, at a radical low price which will completely upset all established standards of automobile value.

MISSOURI CAMPAIGN COST G. O. P. $96,000

State Committee Winds Up Unsuccessful Combat with Balance of $2272.

The Republican State Committee spent $96,046 in its recent unsuccessful campaign and had receipts of $98,318, it is shown in a report filed with the Recorder of Deeds yesterday by Samuel C. McCluney, treasurer. The committee has a balance of $2272.

Items of expenditure include $3500 in connection with the registration of voters at Kansas City, $2000 given Dr. E. B. Clements, Republican national committeeman for Missouri, repaying an advance he made for the Missouri meeting here, and $1500 given the Republican City Committee here.

The Republican National Committee contributed $38,853 to the State Committee. A large portion of the State group's receipts consisted of comparatively small contributions from employees of the various State departments and eleemosynary institutions. These donations apparently were a percentage of the salaries of the contributors.

Other contributions included: J. L. Mauran, St. Louis architect, $750; Gov. Caulfield, $541; W. J. Knight, W. M. Rankin, Charles E. Blackmer, Mrs. Grace Sample Bingham, national committeewoman for Missouri; Congressman Manlove of Joplin and Alroy S. Phillips, unsuccessful nominee for Supreme Judge, $500 each; Walter L. Rathmann, St. Louis architect, recently appointed to design the new post office, $350; Collector of Internal Revenue Becker and Dr. Clements, $300 each; William B. Ittner, St. Louis architect; District Attorney Brewer, Mrs. Celesta T. Blise, secretary of the Republican City Committee; Dwight F. Davis, former Governor-General of the Philippines; John H. Holliday, Vice-Governor of the Philippines; Congressman Niedringhaus, W. L. Cole of Union, unsuccessful nominee for Supreme Judge, and L. C. Fuller, $250 each; Laurence M. Hyde, commissioner of the Supreme Court of Missouri and brother of the Secretary of Agriculture, $200; Arthur M. Curtis, the State chairman, and West End Women's Republican Club, $100 each, and P. de C. Ball, $50.

The Democratic State Committee recently reported contributions of $60,100 and expenditures of $60,022 in its successful campaign. This included $28,961 given for expenses of the local Democratic campaign in St. Louis.

The Republican City Committee has not filed its report yet, but its treasurer has announced that receipts were about $52,000 and expenditures about $51,000.

BEER HEARING OPENS WITH TESTIMONY
BY BREWERS

A. Huber of Anheuser-Busch Tells House Committee That Legalization Would Mean Rehirin 300,000 Men.

AYS PLANTS WOULD SPEND $360,000

Levi Cooke, Counsel for U. S. Association, Both Urge Low Tax Start—Latter for 3.2 Brew.

By RAYMOND F. BRANT
Staff Correspondent of the Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Huber of St. Louis, vice-president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., told the House Ways and Means Committee today that legalization of beer would mean a tax on the beverage of 2 cents or 3.2 per cent beer unreasonably high, and that the expenditure of $360,000,000 by brewers.

Huber was the second speaker on the bill introduced by chairman James W. Collier of Mississippi. The first witness was Joseph E. Huber, president of the United States Brewers' Association, who declared that the proposed modification of the act would not make beer intoxicating. After testifying that the country expected to receive annual production of 40,000,000 barrels of beer in two years, he proposed modification of the act. Huber said the cost of plant equipment would be $175,000,000; materials, $7,000,000; beer cases, $12,000,000; labels and crowns, $5,000,000; cooperage, $40,000,000; automobiles, $15,000,000; bottling, $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

Other Expenditures. In addition to these direct expenditures by the brewers, Huber added that "at least $100,000,000 would be spent by all distributors of beer for such as bars, cases, ice and other furnishings." He predicted modification of the act would mean the re-employment of 300,000 men in the manufacture of beer, of whom 100,000 would be in the manufacturing of the men who are now in independent occupations, crowns and label factories, in the coal mines and the railroads.

He explained that these figures were based on telegrams received from brewers who now have a capacity of 15,000,000 barrels annually.

He testified that the tax on beer would be 2 cents a barrel. At this figure the federal revenue from the production of 40,000,000 barrels would be $200,000,000. The bill calls for a tax of 3 cents a barrel.

Asks About 5-Cent Beer. When the national prohibition law was enacted the tax on beer was 5 cents a barrel, and Representative Joseph E. Huber, New Jersey, said today that he would support a soft-drinked St. Louis beer if the tax would be 5 cents a barrel. "We want," said Huber, "as much revenue as we can get, but we also want to give the people a good, cheap beer."

"It all depends on the taxes which will be imposed on the city and state," Huber said. "If the state and city are looking for revenue, it is possible to sell beer at 5 cents a barrel, but it would be a swindle—perhaps just a swindle. Huber explained that the brewers had stopped selling beer before the 5 cent tax was imposed. Both Huber and Cooke said that a modest tax would be imposed after the brewing business was rehabilitated. Their argument was that a low tax would allow the brewers to get back into the business and would also remove the "wild-cat" and "alley" brands from the market. With a 5 cent barrel tax, Huber said, the cost of the beer could be sold at 12 cents to 14 cents a barrel. He contrasted this with the 24 cents paid by speakeasies for the same beer. Under a 5 cent tax, Huber said, the cost of the beer would be about $2.16 to the distributor.
